Rudek, Riska stay in Township races

by THOMAS STEVENS

Antioch Township Supervisor
Candidate Lisa Rudek and Trustee Candidate Carol Riska will be allowed to

ABC Party to launch campaign

The official launch of the "A Better Community" party, which will be used to introduce the party's candidates for village board positions and its platform, will occur at an open house on March 3 at 6 p.m.

Mayoral Candidate Marilyn Shineflug, ABC's candidate for mayor, will be available, along with Trustee candidates Ronald Cunningham, Dorothy Larson, and Marvin Oldenburger, to answer questions about Antioch's future.

"Our candidates strongly encourage all interested citizens to join us," said Shineflug. "We want to share our goals and learn first hand the concerns of the residents of Antioch."

The March 3 event, located at the Patio Restaurant in Antioch, will also be the party's fund raiser.

participate in the April 20 elections after challenges to their signature petitions were dropped.

Rudek, who was challenged by resident Carolyn Jonites for having "invalid signatures" on her petitions, had her challenge dropped by Jonites after the signature vote tally showed Rudek had more than the 225 legal signatures needed to run.

"Jonites is a Judy Martini campaign worker and she tried to have me removed from the ballot for what appears to be political reasons," said Rudek of the challenge. "All that has been accomplished by this attempt is another waste of Antioch Township's money. Was it worth it?"

Riska's challenge was thrown out due to a technicality on when the challenge was filed at the Township Clerk's office.

According to Judy Martini, who has informally organized the RIGHT CHOICE party which Riska supports, Riska's challenge was filed past the Feb. 15 deadline for objections. The state board of elections set a Feb. 17 deadline for those offices which were to be closed for the two holidays on Feb. 12 and 15. However, Antioch Township offices were open both of those days, causing the deadline for Antioch Township objections to become Feb. 15.

"I don't know what this cost the taxpayers, but it sure seems like a waste of money," said Martini.

Village refuses to make issue choice

by THOMAS STEVENS

Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch Village Board refused to take issue with Against Riverboat Casino supporters, choosing rather to wait until after the April 20 election to make a decision on gambling in Antioch Township.

ARC supporters filled the audience at the village board's Feb. 22 meeting looking for some support they could show the Illinois Gaming Commission.

After a brief presentation, ARC supporters asked the board for a resolution (Continued on Page 8)

Sleigh bells ring

Lake County has become a winter wonderland with more than eight inches of snow falling throughout the week. After shoveling and salting sidewalks and driveways, families have taken the opportunity to ride in a one-horse open sleigh at

Quig's Apple Orchards in Mundelein. The horse, Sir Lancelot, enjoys the outings and looks forward to more riders. — Photo by Gene Gabry

CLC's spring enrollment jumps to record numbers

With enrollment up 3 percent from one year ago, the College of Lake County has recorded its highest spring semester enrollment in the college's history.

Total spring semester enrollment now stands at 15,418 students, a figure that includes students in credit and non-credit programs, full and part time.

Comparing the credit enrollment to other area community colleges, including Oakton, Moraine Valley, College of DuPage, Harper and Triton, CLC and Oakton shared the largest growth, both reporting a 3 percent increase over last spring.

In other action, the board accepted a grant of $26,000 from the Illinois Board of High Education's Dwight D. Eisenhower Mathematics and Science Education Program. The eight-month grant will be used to conduct hands-on training in physical science instruction for 30 third- through eighth-grade teachers in Lake County schools. CLC's physics instructor Toby Ward will direct the project, which will begin in June.

The board also accepted a proposal to keep the college open on Fridays in the summer to increase service to students and members of the community. Since 1980, the college has been operating on a four-day summer workweek from June to end of July to save fuel and energy.

However, due to increasing requests from community members for service, CLC board decided to keep the college open on Fridays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. At the same time, the board granted employees a four-day summer work week option by developing a flexible staffing pattern.

The board also decided to ban smoking in the A-wing second floor, one of the two previously designated smoking areas on the Grayslake campus. The college will continue to allow smoking in the room adjacent to Lancers, the student cafeteria.

Former assessor Peter Drabek II dies

FOX LAKE — Grant Township Assessor Betty Niemi remembered her former boss and predecessor, Peter P. Drabek II, with words of praise. "He was a credit to the community," Niemi said. "He was a very highly thought-of man." Mr. Drabek, 74, died Feb. 17. A funeral Mass was celebrated at St. Bede Feb. 20 and he was buried in the Grant Cemetery. "I knew him and his wife, Sophie, very well," Niemi said. "They were very active in the community." Niemi was appointed to fill Mr. Drabek's position as township assessor when he retired in 1980. Mr. Drabek was born in Chicago Aug. 9, 1918. He served with the U.S. Navy in both World War II and the Korean conflict.

Arboretheater will feature waterfalls

VERNON HILLS—The Vernon Hills Village Board is in the process of fine-tuning plans for an eight-acre Arboretheater, a combination arboretum and amphitheater, that will feature hills, bodies of water, waterfalls and walking paths. James Martin & Associates were asked to propose a three-year building plan estimated to cost between $750,000 and $1.8 million.

Village, County seek solution to sewer plant

LINDENHURST—The battle over regional sewer rights continues as the Village of Lindenhurst continues its battles against Robert Depke and the Lake County Board. Village officials met with the County's Public Service Committee on Feb. 24 in an effort to find a solution to the area's sewer needs. The sides will continue to meet with all parties involved in an effort to seek a solution.

Discussions continue on transmission center

LAKE ZURICH—Lake Zurich trustees want the answers to several more questions from Commonwealth Edison as well as verification of their EMF readings from an independent electrical engineer before they make a decision on whether or not a transmission center for the utility company should be approved for construction in the village's industrial park. Discussions will continue March 8.

Target store given preliminary approval

KILDEER—The Kildeer Plan Commission has made a decision on the proposed development of a Target Greatland Store for their village. They support the project if nearly 40 conditions concerning access to the site, traffic signalization and landscaping amongst others can be resolved. The Village of Kildeer will hold public hearings on annexing the property on Rand and Cuba Roads. That meeting is slated for March 1 beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Quentin School.

Hit-and-run victim searches for driver

LIBERTYVILLE — Victoria Vohasek was involved in an accident with a black SAAB 900 on her way home from work about 7 p.m. Feb. 19. Riding the green light, Vohasek drove south on Milwaukee Avenue through Winchester Road and broadsided the SAAB when it turned left in front of her. She hit the SAAB, who's driver is a Caucasian man with dark hair in his mid-30s, hard enough that the Beretta's airbag opened. Vohasek still sustained mouth and chin injuries. She also received burns on her neck from her seatbelt. Anyone who passed the intersection at the time of the accident and who may have information, no matter how small, to call the Libertyville Police Station at 367-8310 or to call her at 680-4609.

Man charged with disorderly conduct

MUNDELEIN—A 28-year-old Vernon Hills man was arrested and charged with one count of disorderly conduct for showing a hotel maid currency and asking her to touch him in an unreasonable manner. Following a two-week investigation, Mundelein Police charged Mitchell Whitefield, of 304 Spring Lane in Vernon Hills with the crime. He allegedly approached a 42-year-old Mundelein woman as she was cleaning rooms in the Holiday Inn, Feb. 4 and showed her currency while asking that she touch him in the genital area.

Man faces jury for attempted murder

WAUCONDA — Daniel Serbedzija will go to trial March 2 at 9 a.m. in Waukegan for allegedly attempting to murder his wife Gail. Serbedzija, 41, was indicted on one count of armed violence and one count of attempted first-degree murder in December, after he allegedly stabbed Gail in the throat, arms and hand. Daniel Serbedzija is in Lake County Jail on a $500,000 cash bond.

Thompson survives to face independents

NORTH CHICAGO—If the race track were longer, the outcome may have been different. The democratic primary bid for mayor of North Chicago went to incumbent Bobby E. Thompson after being hotly pursued all night by Jerry L. Johnson. Thompson received 50 percent of the votes with 978, Johnson followed with 40.5 percent of the vote with 793. Sylvester Neal and Richard McKissick trailed with each receiving nearly 5 percent of the vote.

Five teachers given retirement bonuses

ROUND LAKE—Five Round Lake High School administrators leaving at the end of the school year under the new state early-retirement program have received 20 percent mid-year raises of $10,960 to $15,502. Supt. Robert Sherman received the largest increase to $93,016. Purpose of the raises is to increase the multi-year average on which retirement payments are based. "This is the way it has been done for years," Sherman said about end-of-the-year "bonus" increases for retirees. Instead of the projected $200,000 cost to the cash-strapped school district of early retirements for about one dozen teachers, the figure will be closer to $300,000.

Communities seek to halt gang growth

Animals Abound!

I live in the Villas of Timber Creek in Round Lake Park and I would like to know what animal control does every day? Every time I open my door, I see a stray wild cat sitting in my yard or on my brand new car. I'm tired of walking out there and seeing animals running all over the place. I hope our tax money is not paying them because they're not doing any good. They're being paid for doing nothing.

More Than You Know

I'm calling in response to the Grayslake Police gripes. I work closely with the police and I'm friends with the officers. There's a lot of things going on in Grayslake that people don't know about. It's not so much that goes on here, but the people who drive through here. There's a lot of arrests made, a lot of drugs getting off the streets, a lot of bad people we don't want wandering our neighborhoods who we don't want breaking in our cars, sleeping in our garages and being a menace. I think the cops do a great job.

He's A Cat Hater

An Antioch caller said he would like to have his wife's cat dissected, as they do to cats in Wauconda High School's biology classes. His wife called and asked if there was any place to have her husband dissected. Of course, we know that could not happen. If there were such a place, a lot of pet owners would like to watch him squirm and beg for mercy. If her husband harms her cat, she should warn her neighbors who have pets, call the police and the Lake County Animal Protections Assn. and throw him out.

Thanks For The Help

I'm from Grayslake. I'd like to thank the three men who got me out of the ditch on Feb. 12 on Rte. 60, coming from Mundelein. You know who you are. Thank you.

Underpaid By $70,000

I'd like to respond to "Money For Baby-sitting." I would like to know where you find teachers making $30,000. I have been teaching for seven years with a master's degree and I'm still continuing my education, without the amount of $30,000 even in my future — and I work for one of the best districts around. Secondly, where did you get the idea of five hours a day? We put in many more hours than other professions, including meetings, conferences, etc., and leave with our hands full of work to do at home. You call us baby-sitters? What nerve. My class size is 33, which, at most day care centers, that number would be considered two classes. They have a limit. At $3 per hour, times 33 kids for 176 days, that comes to $104,544. The next time you begrudge me my $30,000 for teaching, think about what I'd be worth in the baby-sitting market. Spend a day in the classroom to see what our day is like. If teaching is easy, then why aren't you doing it.

Insubordination At ACHS

I'm a student at Antioch High School and my friends have been kicked out of school for insubordination. The school's version of insubordination constitutes this: If you don't give them something they want, you get kicked out of school. This includes stickers or anything else they consider inappropriate.

Should Be Ashamed

Hainesville is a big eyesore. The Avon should be torn down. How can the mayor even hold his head up in public knowing that he is letting a rat trap like that continue to stand?

Lovin' Lipservice

I'm from Round Lake Park and we just moved here. I have to tell you that I actually look forward to receiving the newspaper and reading Lipservice. I think it's one of the greatest things in the newspaper. Keep up the good work.

What Town Is In Question?

This is in response to "Ignoring The Problem." I would like to know which school you are referring to. Could it be Round Lake? Nobody will admit that there is a gang problem here. We just heard on our police scanner that two gangs are about to start a fight in Round Lake. You say we're ignoring it. Wait until one of your children gets beat up.

I'll Be Watching

This is to the man who feels that he should be entitled to be steal a handicap parking places. My mother is handicapped and has never applied for a sticker to park in those spots. She is considerate and decent enough to leave room for people with more of a handicap than her own. If I see you parking in a handicap spot, you had better be prepared to face the consequences. I will embarrass you so bad, you'll wish you got off your lazy butt and walked to the store.

Thanks, Teachers

I would like to say something about this teachers and baby-sitting thing that's going on. I attend Mundelein High School and I think my teachers are absolutely wonderful. They get in early and stay late to help the students. These teachers are often the target of ignorant remarks, especially concerning their pay. I say that they deserve every penny and more. I would also like to thank them. Without them, I'd have no hope for the future.

Not Very Neighborly

I'm from Mundelein and I wonder if every twelfth caller of "Turn It Down, Buddy" lives on my street? It's a dime to a dollar that the kid with a loud, thumping stereo is a young, male adult who lives in a single-family dwelling with many occupants. He participates in license plate switching and has friends who don't know how to use a doorbell. They honk their horns at all hours of the day and night. There are laws against disturbing the peace. Get the license plate number and report it.

Casinos Bring Jobs

I'm a student at Antioch High School and I am for the riverboat casinos. I would like to stay in Antioch and raise a family here, but there are absolutely no jobs around here.

Parking's Not The Problem

This is in response to all of you who are ripping into the guy who parks in handicap parking places. So what if he gets a ticket. Let's talk about the way you people drive. I drive an oil tanker about 200 miles locally, and see how many people drive in and out of the cities and suburbs. Eighty percent of you people are brain dead. Illegal lane usage and blowing off stop signs go on every day, but nobody cares until there is an accident. Parking in a handicap zone doesn't cause an accident. Reckless driving does.

Communities join to end gang growth

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

With gang related activities in Lake County on the rise, several area community leaders came together, with the help of the Lindenhurst Chamber of Commerce, to find some solutions to the growing problem in suburban areas.

To better inform Lindenhurst area business and community leaders, Lindenhurst Chamber President Corkey Gross and his staff formed the special meeting at the State Bank of Antioch-Lindenhurst Facility and collected some of the best equipped speakers in Lake County to get area leaders prepared for the coming social dilemma.

Community leaders from Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, Round Lake and Grayslake joined the Chamber in learning

Politicos lead CAUSE event

Several political celebrities will headline a fund raiser for Citizens Against UnSafe Electricity (CAUSE).

It will be Saturday, April 24, at a location to be selected. Money raised at the event will be used to oppose Commonwealth Edison Co. plans for a high-voltage transmission line from Round Lake Beach to Antioch.

Taking part in the event will be Congressman Philip Crane, state Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis, state Rep. Robert Churchill and County Board member Suzi Schmidt. Crane will be the master of ceremonies.

"I truly believe that something positive can come of this meeting."

Representative Sally Foster gave the luncheon crowd of more than 100 the real facts about gang activity in Lake County.

Kupsak, who is a former chief of police of Lindenhurst, told the crowd that Vernon Hills, like the Lake Villa/Lindenhurst area, didn't always have a gang problem.

"Not everyone that wears a Chicago Bulls or L.A. Raiders hat is a gang member," said Kupsak to the area leaders. "But, you have a gang problem here. It may just be a spray painted wall but there is a problem here."

Bridges, who grew up on Chicago's west side and is a former member of the Waukegan and Chicago Police Departments, said that area kids join gangs to earn recognition that they don't get at home or at school.

"These kids need to belong to something," said Bridges. "When they join the gang, they gain instant credibility in the gang community."

Bridges continued by informing the group that the only equal opportunity employer for Black and Latino kids in the suburbs are the drug dealers.

"If the only job these kids can get is for minimum wage at a fast food restaurant, its no wonder why they turn to the gangs," said Bridges.

With gangs on the rise, the concern for Northern Lake County is how the local municipalities can stop the growth of gangs before the shut down individual communities.

"They don't take over the day to day business of the community," said Bridges. "They just shut down the social activities of the community, forcing parents to bring their children inside after a certain time of day because it is no longer safe outside."

Gross believes that the local communities and the chamber can come together and stop what could be a serious community problem in the near future.

"The chamber will be involved with this," said Gross. "I don't know to what extent yet, but I truly believe that something positive can come of this meeting."

Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk joined Gross by saying the communities can no longer put their collective heads in the sand on the gang issue.

"We are going to be proactive and beat this," said Baumunk. "Lindenhurst will be a strong proponent and will remain informed on gang related issues."

Happy 50th birthday wishes to a true friend

I met her in August of 1965 at Resurrection Hospital in Chicago. She had just given birth to her first child and I my second. Through this column you have all gotten to know her as "Sylvia from the City." Her name is Sylvia Vaughan and she was born on March 1, 1943. Over these fast-passing 27 1/2 years, we have developed a special friendship.

We talk almost on a daily basis and an angry word has never passed between us. Happy 50th birthday, my dearest friend. I can say with 100 percent honesty and also with a lot of love and pride that knowing you truly added a specialness to my life. Goodness gracious you are "old." I am glad I am still in my 40's—at least until September!

Make it happen

As promised, here is more concerning the possibility of an ice arena/exhibition center for Antioch. The column generated quite a bit of interest. There appears to be an abundance of people in our town who would like to see a facility of this nature become a reality. One of my calls came from a gentleman who has a lot of experience in managing ice arenas and organizing hockey teams. I connected this gentleman up with Dale Kritzer. Dale told me he is involved in commercial real estate and has been mulling over a similar idea for sometime. Dale has the game plan and know how and he encourages people to call him to exchange ideas and share resources. His phone number is 395-8485. With enough people pulling together an ice arena/multi-purpose center just may happen for our town in the near future—at least one can always dream!

Also

When I was telling Darlene Olenick about all the calls I had concerning an ice arena/exhibition center, she got caught up in my enthusiasm. Her input was that her and I could run the concession stand at the arena. I told her my life-long dream of owning and operating my "very own" hot dog stand.

We combined this with her talent for making beautiful things and also her desire to be a floral designer for weddings, etc. Soon we had people getting married on ice. Darlene would help them plan their wedding and design their bouquets, I would serve up the hot dogs family style and we would arrange to have someone do the video taping. Sounds good to me.

I think the cement trucks are already gathering to pour the foundation and my suggestion to engaged couples everywhere is "practice your ice skating!"

Follow up

In a recent column, you read about the acting successes of David Allen Case. David was one of the finalists auditioning for the part of a stable hand on the TV soap opera "The Guiding Light." The bad news is David did not get the part. The good news, and possibly better news, is he will be appearing in "The Guiding Light" acting a part written specifically for him. The producers of the show were so impressed with his talents they are now in the process of writing this additional part for the show to keep David from slipping through their fingers.

Starting in May, please look for Antioch's very own success story, David Allen Case, in the "Guiding Light." His mom and Brenda, promises to let us know which part will be Davids. How exciting and wonderful. David, good luck in this future endeavors and thanks for putting our special town on the map.

Theatre time

Don't forget to take in one of the remaining performances of the PM&L production "Something's Afoot." The remaining show dates are Feb. 26, 27 and 28. Seating is limited, therefore reservations are a must and can be made by conducting preschool screenings for three and four year old children who are residing in the district, on March 19. This screening is for children whose parents have concerns. For further information, please contact the school prior to March 19.

Emmons School will be

Special outing

The St. Peter Council of Catholic Women will be visiting the Jerry Springer Show on March 18. Participants will arrive by bus in time for the 9:15 a.m. show, enjoy a lunch in the studio commissary and stay for an afternoon taping of a second show. There are reservations available for 47 people and if you would like to attend, call Yolanda Obermaier at 395-7554.

Yummy

On a recent Saturday, as I was in the process of cleaning house, I decided a carryout order from the Skandia House Restaurant was just what I needed.

When I called to place my order, Eva Napier took my call. I ordered a burger with grilled onions, french fries and a salad. Eva suggested I try their new fresh spinach salad, topped with a heated bacon dressing. I took her suggestion and soon discovered the salad was beyond delicious.

Next time you visit the Skandia House on Grass Lake and Bluff Lake Rd., try this salad selection. If I know my food, you will love it! Thanks, Eva, and rest assured, I will definitely ask for it again and again.

Board meeting

The Feb. 9 meeting of the Grass Lake School Board was called to order promptly at 7 p.m. The following discussions were held and/or actions taken. Discussion was held concerning the possibility of speaker James Kern coming to Grass Lake School sometime in August; the superintendent will be seeking estimates regarding the updating of the school intercom system; the board approved the bid for the automatic fire suppression system for the kitchen; the board approved the 1992-93 salaries for the office personnel and also approved the Resolution to develop the tentative budget for FY94.

The next meeting of the Grass Lake School Board will be March 9, at 7 p.m., in the school's media center.

denouncing the gaming site near Antioch and calling for the Illinois Gaming Commission to consider other alternatives for riverboat gambling.

Trustee Larry Hanson, who is a candidate for mayor, requested that the board make a decision after listening to the presentations of both sides. Hanson asked the board to invite the two sides to the board's March 1 meeting and give each side equal time to present its case. He further moved that the board would then take a public vote on the issue and either go on record as endorsing or opposing the proposed gambling casino.

Hanson's motion, however, died for a lack of a second.

"I have my own personal feelings on this issue, but I really feel the voters should know how we feel on this issue," said Hanson.

The board apparently will wait until after the April 20 election, which will have a non-bonding referendum on it relating to the riverboat gaming issue, to make its decision.

ARC President Kurt Gamlin said the group was hopeful that the board would take a stand before the referendum and encouraged the board members to take leadership in this area in their personal lives.

"We are disappointed that the board voted to allow their constituents to speak at the ballot box," said Gamlin.

ARC members, according to Gamlin, will continue to meet on Monday evenings at the Antioch United Methodist Church.

Antioch AARP names area pair king and queen

The Antioch Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons #387 held its monthly meeting on Feb. 9 and crowned Frank Keim and Millie Melowski king and queen of the group's Valentine's party. In addition, Genevieve Horsch, of the Community Services Committee, introduced Pat Danlow of the Public Action to Deliver Service to the group of 88 AARP members. The PADS group, with the help of the Antioch Methodist Church, provides a warm meal and safe overnight shelter from October to April. Volunteer help is needed and AARP members were asked to help by giving an hour or more of their time at the church on Saturday evenings or Sunday mornings for clean-up. ### Dean's list

Antioch resident Deborah J. Kasproicz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Kasproicz, has received recognition on the Dean's List for the fall semester at Bradley University. To be eligible for the dean's list, a student must achieve a minimum 3.5 grade point average for the semester on a 4.0 scale.

Lake Villa resident Barbara Wunn, daughter of Eldon Wunn, was named to the Dean's List for high academic achievement. Wunn, a junior at Olivet Nazarene University and a graduate of Antioch Community High School, received higher than a 3.5 grade point average to be included on the list.

Lindenhurst resident Jennifer Holbo was named Magna Cum Laude at Teikyo Marycrest University for the fall semester. Holbo received a grade point average between 3.75 and 3.909. Holbo is currently continuing her studies at Teikyo University Holland in Maastricht, Netherlands. While studying in Maastricht, Holbo serves as bureau chief for the TMU weekly newspaper, The Crest. Holbo reports on issues and events occurring in Europe. Holbo is scheduled to return to TMU's main campus in Davenport, Iowa for the Fall 1993 semester.

River group seeking Chain representation

Friends of the Fox River, a volunteer organized to promote water quality, is seeking representatives from the Chain O'Lakes/Lake County area touched by the river.

Patrick Reese, founder of Friends and the executive director, said the organization headquartered in Elgin also would like to elect a director to represent the Chain O' Lakes.

Friends has a network now involving 5,000 volunteers in two states who monitor water quality of the Fox River system and conduct educational campaigns and stewardship activities to improve water quality, bio-diversity, habitat, and scenic beauty.

Reese said the director must be able to attend a monthly meeting in St. Charles and devote five to eight hours a month to board work.

Although the organization has not taken a stand on the moral question of riverboat casino gambling, Friends has filed a lawsuit challenging the legality of promoters of an Elgin casino boat to install a cable-operated craft on grounds that the boat will inhibit access to the Fox River in violation of a 100-year-old statute.

"We like riverboats, in fact, because they bring people to the river, but the cable plan is unacceptable because it hinders access," declared Reese.

Friends has established a series of extensive study groups in schools that study water quality in "riffle" areas of the river where there are enough bubbles to oxygenate the water. "We'd like to establish more of these study teams in Lake County," Reese mentioned.

Reese can be contacted at (708) 741-1124 for further information.

Easing Your Tax Burden

IRS can put money back in parent's pocket

Everyone knows that the IRS collects taxes. But did you know that the IRS also puts money into the pockets of parents who need it? In fact, last year the IRS gave nearly $436 million of "free money" to Illinois residents. Following is how the Earned Income Credit works.

If you are a working parent with at least one child, and have income under $22,370, you may be eligible for Earned Income Credit (EIC). This refundable credit is subtracted from the amount of tax you may owe, and if you didn't owe any tax, you may still get money back.

This year the maximum credit you can claim is $2,211 up from $2020 in 1991. EIC is divided into three credits—the basic credit, the health insurance credit, and an extra credit for a child born in 1992. You can claim each credit that applies to you. But you must apply for the credit by filing a Schedule EIC as part of your tax return.

This is the second year that the IRS is using Schedule EIC.

First, you can get help in person at one of the local IRS offices. There are 10 offices in northern Illinois and the employees will go over the form with you and answer any questions.

If going to an IRS office is not convenient, try one of the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) or Tax Assistance for the Elderly sites. Here, an IRS trained volunteer will help you one-on-one at over 400 different locations.

Or, if you prefer, you can call the IRS and they can help you over the phone. To obtain help by phone, or learn the location and hours of the nearest IRS office or VITA site, call 1-312-435-1040.

The easiest way the IRS can help is to figure the EIC for you. Simply fill out either Form 1040 or Form 1040A and Schedule EIC Part II, "Information About Your Two Youngest Qualifying Children," and Part III, "Other Information," and send it in. The IRS will do the rest.

An example of how much the EIC can be worth to you:

Bill and Sue, a married couple, have three children—Bobby, age 11, Barry, age 9, and Benny, 8 months of age. Their adjusted gross income was $16,378 during 1992. Based on the above, they are eligible to receive the following amount in EIC:

•because of the two younger children, they would receive $788 for the basic credit;

•due to the birth of baby Benny in 1992, they will receive $214;

•they provided health insurance coverage for all the children; they will be eligible to receive $257; Therefore, Bill and Sue will receive a total EIC of

$1,259 for 1992.

In the past, some eligible families didn't file for this credit because they thought they would lose some welfare benefits available to them. The IRS assures you that receiving EIC will have no effect on Aid to Families With Dependent Children (AFDC); Medicaid; Supplemental Social Security Income (SSI); Food Stamps; and low income housing.

More good news about EIC. You can get up to $1,324, the basic credit for one child, in advance during 1993. Here's how it works. File a Form W-5, "Earned Income Credit Advance Payment Certificate," with your employer. Your employer will pro-rate your advanced credit throughout the year. As a result, you will get extra money in each paycheck. Your employer can tell you how much you will receive in each paycheck.

If you receive the Advance EIC, you will have to file Form 1040 or Form 1040A next year to report the money received and to take advantage of any additional parts of the EIC for which you qualify.

For more information on EIC, call 1-800-829-3676 and ask for Publication 596, "Earned Income Credit."

Abundant support

Human service agency puts emphasis on service in battle against alcohol and substance abuse.

The doors always are open at Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism And Substance Abuse (NICASA), one of Lake County's largest human service organizations.

NICASA derives its financial support from a variety of sources including United Way, state funding and contributions from corporations and foundations besides individual fees and some fund raising activities. Operating income is in excess of $1 million a year to operate facilities at Round Lake and Waukegan, and provide a wide range of out-patient and prevention services.

Last year NICASA provided $377,998 in free services. That's a substantial figure, noted executive director Judy Fried. Services are available on a fee basis, but no one struggling with alcohol or drug abuse is turned away because of an inability to pay. The agency's prevention services, provided at no charge, are available to schools, companies, churches and a variety of local organizations. Prevention services last year were calculated to total $327,583.

NICASA's admirable record of service seems to be limited only by the amount of revenue it can generate. NICASA achievements richly deserve applause and support.

Tort reform possible

Stage set for changes that will benefit citizens, business and health care industry alike.

Gov. Edgar's call for tort reform was one of the highlights of his state of the state address. The governor hit a bulls eye in scoring a system he says drains profits from business, increases prices and limits citizen access to physicians. Edgar tallied some big-time political points by hitting lawyers who profit from the system that awards victims with unrealistically high compensation.

An associated event underscored how serious Republicans in the Illinois General Assembly are in instituting meaningful tort reform. That was the speech delivered to Chicago physicians by Sen. Judy Baar Topinka (R-Berwyn), newly appointed chairman of the Senate Public Health and Welfare Committee.

Pointing out how the U.S. has a faulty tort system that rules against fair and affordable health insurance coverage, Topinka said Senate Republicans have a bill in the draft stage that will put a cap of $250,000 on pain and suffering damages in malpractice cases. Sponsors want to prevent juries from heaping on damages because they feel sorry for a severely injured patient, Topinka declared. That is the essence of meaningful court reform. Illinois lags behind other states that have enacted claim caps.

Another bill that makes a lot of sense is an Illinois Senate measure to discourage frivolous suits by requiring the loser to pay the prevailing party's court and attorney fees.

The former Democratic majority in the Senate avoided tort reform like a plague because it was beholden to the trial lawyers lobby which is a big campaign contributor. Not so with the Republicans. The stage is set for tort reform. Significant changes should be enacted. The sooner the better.

Access good business

Editor:

Most wheelchair modifications cost far less you might think. While such modifications have been tax deductible for some time, many now qualify for a 50 percent tax credit. Additionally, there are local firms that will come out and do a detailed estimate with no obligation and at no charge.

While it is true that access is now required by both federal and state law, the best reason to make modifications is that it is simply good business. It is not only great for public relations but it will give you a good return on your investment as well. As disability awareness increases, more and more clubs and other organizations are looking for accessible restaurants for their functions in order to accommodate an increasing number of disabled members.

Odors don't stay put

Editor:

The Village of Fox Lake Zoning Board of Appeals heard a petition filed by A.R. Land Co. and Peter Baker & Sons Asphalt Co. for continued mining operations and the installation of an asphalt production plant.

The petitioners offered a projected $10 to $15,000 a year in generated sales tax revenue; the asphalt plant would not be observed from the roadway or the surrounding homes and a promise the land would be turned over, 30 years in the future, to another developer to build houses.

A zoning board member asked the petitioner why they wished to be annexed into the Village of Fox Lake. Their response, (in so many words) it is the easiest community in which to build their plant. Lake County Ordinance would require them to invest hundreds of thousands of dollars before they could operate their asphalt plant. They also assured the residents the odors produced by this plant would be restricted to the property boundaries. Anyone that has dealt with ARF Landfill and the Waste Management Compost site in Grayslake knows those odors do not stay within their property lines.

Is the Village of Fox Lake prepared to listen to years of complaints generated by Peter Baker and Sons Asphalt for the return of $15,000 of "projected" sales tax revenue? The problems far outweigh the benefits in this matter.

Tough Waller at odds with bar view on drug arrests

by BILL SCHROEDER

Something is out of whack when the state's attorney is criticized for doing his job too well—tracking down lawbreakers and putting them behind bars. Maybe it's because so many people are in a daze over Clintonomics.

Unbelievably, Lake County State's Atty. Michael "Mike" Waller is at odds with his brethren in the American Bar Assn. over his policy of focusing on the demand side in the war on drugs, meaning that his office is going after drug users on the theory that if you reduce the number of customers the pushers will be hurt.

That's Econ 101, supply and demand stuff. Makes sense. But not with an ABA speaker who scored prosecutors like Waller for overloading the criminal justice system in "crushing" proportions. Tsk. Tsk.

Waller has the statistics to show that the ABA is all wet. Drug usage in Lake County has declined 50 percent since 1985, according to Waller. There has been a positive decline in drug-related crime.

There's another positive side to the Waller approach. By concentrating on users, Lake County authorities are able to get users into treatment at an earlier age. Lake County just doesn't lock up narcotics violators and throw away the key. Treatment is part of the sentence of practically all felony drug cases. That makes a lot of sense, too, considering the typical narcotics felon gets hooked at age 16 and that more than half of the drug offenders in Illinois prisons have not received treatment for substance abuse.

Last time we checked, there still were plenty of empty cells on the top floors of Babcox Center in Waukegan, the county jail. We're not "crushed" yet. Give Waller and his team a pat on the back. They're on the right track.

HISTORY REVISITED—Based on a chaotic start and the turmoil over a domestic economic policy, John Steinke, the irrepressible professor of political science at College of Lake County, believes he is on firm ground dubbing the new Clinton administration "Carter II." Steinke says it will take the Democrats 50 years to regain the White House after four years of Clinton.

SHAKEN CONFIDENCE—Hiring of former Sen. Alan Dixon to spearhead efforts in Washington to save Great Lakes Naval Training Center shows how much confidence Lake County leaders have in Illinois' two sitting U.S. senators, Paul Simon and Carol Moseley Braun.

Chairman Jim Hotham and co-chairman Ron Weeks of VOICE, the citizens committee organized to head off Pentagon efforts to close Great Lakes, were amazed and disappointed over the indifference exhibited by Simon regarding the threat to the Lake County and Illinois economy besides the unbelievable waste for the military budget in closing down Great Lakes.

Whatever Braun does or doesn't do won't surprise State Rep. Robert "Bob" Churchill (R-Lake Villa). "I sat across the isle from Carol Braun in Springfield for six years. She's as liberal as they come. Braun is a typical tax-and-spend Democrat. Watch and see. It's a tragedy that she's in the U.S. senate," Churchill remarked.

BREAK TIME—Saul D. Binder, president of Success National Bank, Lincolnshire, is advocating a go slow policy amid the rush to judge the new Clinton administration in Washington. Binder is in full agreement that the deficit must be lowered, health care must be more affordable, education must be improved and violence must be subdued. So he lines up with FOB (Friends of Bill). "Let's give Bill a break. Let him do his work, and let us do ours," Binder wrote to bank customers and friends. One of the Binder's thoughts is intriguing—that citizens are shifting too much of the responsibility of our society to the president. More citizen participation is needed. "We're not even standing on the sidelines helping with the water bottles...We're sitting in our easy chairs watching tv and criticizing..." Something to think about.

Life is beautiful

Editor:

Well, here we go again. Yet another senseless round of Round Lake bashing from our wonderful neighbors who live in problem-free, perfect communities. Don't you people have any other means of building your egos? Get a life!

Let's examine some facts while you're still hovering close to terra firma. Did you know, Antioch, that the per-capita income of the Round Lake area is identical to yours? And, hey, Libertyville, Round Lake voted yes to a $4.3 million bond referendum to help our schools. Will you be hiding those mobile classrooms out back where nobody will see them?

Perhaps you could dig into those seemingly deep pockets of yours to buy some shrubbery to at least cover the wheels. And to the Libertyville realtor who refused to show us a home in Round Lake four years ago; why are you calling now on a nightly basis? Could it be that the Round Lake area is desirable?

Country Walk development in Round Lake Beach is one of the hottest-selling in Lake County. And didn't Lexington Homes ask for their Silver Oaks development to be annexed to the Beach? Wonder if you'll refuse to show those developments to prospective buyers. If you can bring yourself to do that, please try to keep out neo-Nazis.

I like my current neighbors just fine.

And to our neighbors in Lake Villa and Grayslake I ask, why you? You surely must appreciate Round Lake for our beautiful, spacious and modern library and park district facilities complete with a state-of-the-art fitness center, nature museum, pool, dozens of programs for children and adults, and a senior center. You are big users of our facilities. Why? Because you don't have these facilities, or, if you do, they are pitifully small and outdated.

I sincerely hope that all of you can eventually become accustomed to the quality of life and facilities we have enjoyed in Round Lake for years. Maybe then you'll move beyond your pettiness, get off your high horses and be too busy to bore us Round Lakers with your ignorance.

Trouble with math

Editor:

Reports from Antioch High School announced the referendums voters will face in April. Supt. Robert Schley included "estimates" of what both proposals (building and education fund tax increases) will cost area residents. While insufficient data was offered to check the math on the building referendum, the education fund is quite easy to check.

The proposed education fund tax increase calls for an additional 36 cents per $100 of assessed value. According to the math of Dr. Schley, this would supposedly equate to an additional $107 in taxes for a mythical home with $100,000 assessed valuation. A review of this simple arithmetic is as follows:

$$100,000 \div $100 = 1,000 \times $0.36 = $360$ . Clearly Dr. Schley is not suggesting that $107 equals $320. As most people understand, their assessment is calculated at 1/3 fair market value. If this is what Dr. Schley is actually saying, then the math is as follows:

One third of  $$100,000 = $33,333 \div $100 = $333.33 \times $0.36 = $120$ .

I personally find these "estimates" insulting. Residents within District 41 are familiar with other insults which they are sure to remember come April. Lying to the public is certain to result in dire consequences as the public tolerance for deception has been exhausted.

Values out of kilter

Editor:

This table indicates why Martin Paulson is the wrong man to select as Libertyville Township Assessor to replace Bill Swanson:

I recently moved to Libertyville from Minnesota. I bought a home. I was shocked at the assessment and the assessor's market value for that home. Mr. Paulson, at both the township and county review level, proved he didn't understand market value, as illustrated by this table:

Market Value Basis	Market Value
The legal market value, what I actually paid	$179,000
What buyer asked in MLS listing/ads	189,000
Average sale price comparable 28 3 bdrm. units, 1991 & 1992	165,000
What insurance company says it's worth, plus land	158,000
What it cost the seller in 1990	112,000
What assessor candidate Paulson says it is worth	206,000

Paulson would not listen or be guided by the facts. As a new Libertyville-ite not involved in any local political squabbles, I asked Paulson's opponent, Dennis Jagla, to define "market value" and found that he listened and discussed the issue. I think Paulson should be left in his current full-time job, running a restaurant-motel for his family!

EMMA--An Amish Country Print By N.A. Noël

Antiques of the future available now at Patricia's Giftware!

Patricia's has expanded! We've just received new loads of furnishings straight from Amish settlements!

Specializing in Amish Oak Furniture, Patricia's carries a complete line including chairs, tables, cedar chests, desks, beds, entertainment center's, and much, much more. Each piece is handmade from the finest woods by Amish Craftsmen.

Each piece is built to last...an Antique of the Future! Be sure to stop in and check out the solid wood construction of each furniture item.

Also, whether you choose a beautiful bedroom set, kitchen table & chairs or rocking chair, each can be custom ordered in nine different stains.

Custom orders usually take six to eight weeks. This length of time is needed because the Amish have no telephones and no electricity, so ordering is all done by correspondence or personal visits to each Amish settlement. "We take pride in the fact we've built our business on a personal level with each Amish craftsman," states Patricia Hawkins, owner of the store.

Patricia and her husband, Bob, commented on how fascinating it is to visit the Amish settlements.

"A typical" Amish farm usually has a white house with laundry hanging outside. The farms are immaculate with neat and clean yards.

Over the years they've worked with the Amish, they've seen most of the women in bonnets with long skirts and aprons. Also there were no "high heels"...the women wear very practical, sturdy black shoes. Men typically wear black trousers and blue shirts and often are seen wearing black hats. Married men have beards, whereas single men are clean-shaven.

"Once you see the first-rate quality of each piece of furniture, built without electricity, you can begin to understand the skill and craftsmanship behind it," states Patricia.

IAN AND THE FROG--Print by N.A. Noël

For instance, the Amish table is in solid oak...with many styles one-inch thick. The wood is finished on both sides, including underneath. When visiting Patricia's, ask to see how the special double-gear system works to remove and add leaves to the table with ease. Again, each table can be ordered in nine different stains.

You can choose clawfoot or regular base with any pedestal table. Or perhaps you'll want to choose the farm table look with four legs. Each leg can be individually adjusted in case you have uneven floors, etc. Plus you'll find a screw tab beneath the wooden leg to give further adjustment.

Patricia's Giftware gives the customers what they ask for! In fact, they've just expanded the sample items in their store to include an Amish sleigh bed, more table & chair styles, an entertainment center, hutch and much more!

When you visit, don't forget to check out all the unique gifts in the store, including Amish-look framed prints by Nancy Noël, Al Koenig and Steve Polomchak, plus beautiful crystal pieces.

Take some time to stop by Patricia's Amish Furniture and Giftware on Lake Street in Antioch.

Political season starts us thinking

TELLING SECRETS

Donna Litwiler loves her job. No, not the one as chairman of the Grant Twp. Republican Party.

The one as senior citizen coordinator/liaison for the Illinois Secretary of State's office. She did it for Jim Edgar before he became governor. And now her boss is George Ryan.

"Ryan's great, wonderful to work for," Litwiler confided to me. She spent the next three minutes laying more platitudes on him.

"Sounds to me you not only like your job," I replied, "you're going to retire from it."

"Don't talk retirement to me," Donna said. "That's the furthest thing from my mind. I'm only 53."

ELECTION BEHAVIOR

Believe it or not! Last week's village board meeting in Lake Zurich was a record-shattering six minutes.

Four years ago Mayor Jim Kay inherited a tradition of three- and four-hour marathons. They were wrapped around closed-door sessions with the village attorney, zoning considerations and a few complaints from residents. The lights burned long and bright at village hall those nights.

But not last week. Or other board meetings as of late.

"Everyone is on their best behavior," Kay said of a village board known for being feisty. "It's election time."

CRANE WATCHING

While some politicians are predicting the retirement of Congressman Philip Crane (R-Arlington Heights), they apparently didn't ask the boss. He has filed a 1994 declaration of candidacy to begin collecting campaign contributions for next year's race.

Meanwhile, his 1992 Republican opponent, Gary Skoien of Palatine, is making noise about a 1994 run. Still to be heard from is Democrat Shelia Smith. Last fall she gave Crane his biggest scare in 20-plus years by getting 42 percent of vote.

Whether Crane retires tomorrow or next year, Fred Foreman is being mentioned as his successor. The former Lake County DA, who won political appointment to the job of U.S. DA for northern Illinois, is going to the private sector with a Chicago law firm. Foreman was being mentioned as gubernatorial material in 1996 or 1998, but too many others are being groomed for that job. Besides, Foreman's political fortunes wouldn't wait that long.

ELVIS LIVES ON

If there is a bad idea its sure to come from one of our legislators in Springfield.

Like House bill 318 by Clem Balanoff (D-Chicago) It would allow the state to sell specialty license plates—one with a portrait of Elvis—with the funds going to prescription drug addiction. The plates would sell for $40 more than regular ones.

Another of his bills would allow the sale of college license plates with school emblems or mascots. And a third provides for the sale of plates with the state bird (cardinal), tree (white oak) or state animal (white-tailed deer).

The Secretary of State's office isn't exactly excited. "There is a concern about the proliferation of plates," a spokesman is quoted as saying.

OVERHEARD/SEEN

FOX LAKE—Jeffrey Ladd, one of McHenry County's most prominent Republicans next to state GOP Party Chairman Al Jourdan, was in attendance at the Grant Lincoln Day dinner. The chairman of Metra was introduced as "possibly making a run for state attorney general" next year.

ROUND LAKE—Supt. Robert Sherman is practicing for retirement in June. He will take advantage of the state's early retirement plan. He had the "Can I take your order?" routine down pretty well with the idea of landing a job at Hardee's or McDonald's. But he could be rejected for being over qualified. So he's working on "Here's your shopping cart. Welcome to Wal-Mart."

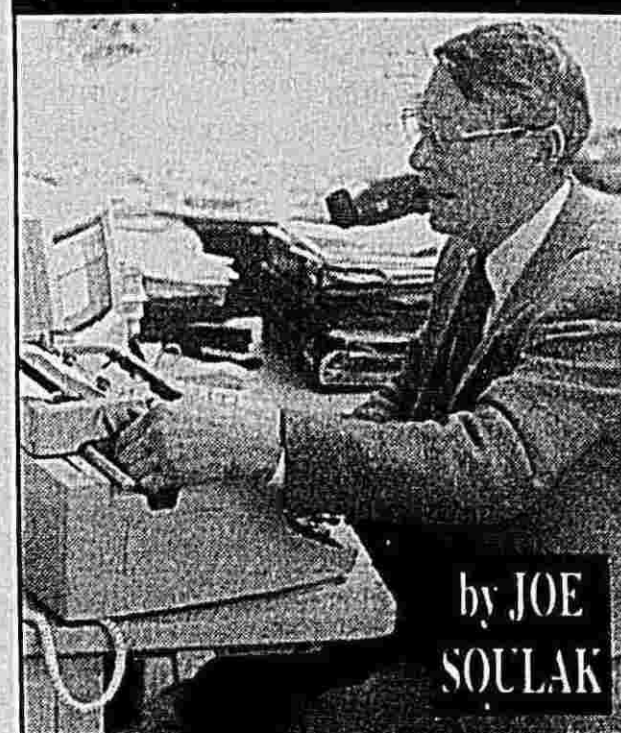

ANTIOCH—Larry Hanson is a member of the village board. He is also a candidate for mayor in the April election. So? He's led the rebirth of the Jaycees when they were on the verge of extinction a decade ago. And he's been doing ever since.

LAKE VILLA—Like husband, like wife. Sandy Churchill, wife of state Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa), is getting her political feet wet. She is campaigning for reappointment to the Lake Villa Fire Protection Dist. board in April or May. But there will be a fight over this one, say those make the appointments.

PRAIRIE VIEW—State Sen. William Peterson (R-Prairie View) has a direct pipeline to Gov. Jim Edgar. His son, Mark, is a member of the governor's super cabinet. The young Turks are not only policy advisors, they are political strategists.

WAUCONDA—One of state Rep. Al Salvi's (R-Wauconda) first pieces of legislation has drawn some reaction. It proposes that mothers with cocaine addictions go into a treatment program or jail. A WBBM-AM radio editorial says it's a bad idea because there is no state funding. And there may not be enough jails to house people who can't get into the programs or won't. Salvi has a reply that will be aired starting this week.

They don't call it 'used' for nothing ATA makes diagnosis for used car buyers

Americans partake in a universal ritual when they contemplate the purchase of a used car. Examining a used car is a unique jig that involves more moves than an advanced aerobics class.

This little two-step includes five basic moves:

1. Walk around the car three times and kick each tire as you walk past.
2. Open the hood and pretend to examine the wires and metal while nodding your head and looking intelligent.
3. Start the car and shake your head at obtrusive and unusual sounds.

by DAN BECKER

4. Honk the horn a few times.
5. Open and shut each car door two times.

There's something wrong when people spend more time writing a check for the vehicle, rather than checking out the vehicle.

That is where Auto Testers & Appraisers, Inc. enters the picture.

Auto Testers & Appraisers finds what you might miss when you're buying a previously owned car.

"There's absolutely no way you, I or anybody else could thoroughly check out a vehicle just by looking at the engine, kicking a tire and slamming a door," said Reg Rand, president of Auto Testers & Appraisers, Inc.

ATA follows the ranks of high technology by meeting the needs of anyone in the market for a used car.

"People say that the country's businesses are no longer 'service oriented.' Well, we are service oriented. We come to you," Rand said.

With a Sun Modular Computer Analyzer and a host of gadgets direct from the future, ATA will come to any location to thoroughly examine the vehicle in question.

"No matter what make, model or year of car you're looking at, we can complete the most comprehensive test there is. We check everything," he said.

With qualified technicians and an on-board computer, ATA's customers won't be in the dark about what needs fixing and why. A special report, written in language anyone can understand, provides a complete outline of what doesn't meet required standards and what might be the problem.

Grayslake dealer honored by Time

Time Magazine named Douglas A. Rockenbach, president, Rockenbach Chevrolet Sales, Inc., in Grayslake, a recipient of the 1993 Time Magazine Quality Dealer Award. Edward R. McCarrick, associate publisher of Time Magazine made the announcement during the National Automobile Dealers Association Convention in New Orleans.

Rockenbach is one of only 67 dealers nationwide to be nominated for the magazine's award, sponsored in cooperation with the NADA since 1970. The annual TMQDA program recognizes outstanding franchised new car dealers for exceptional performance in their dealerships and distinguished community service. Winners are selected by a panel of faculty members from the University of Michigan Graduate School of Business Administration.

Rockenbach began his automotive career working in the dealership established by his family in 1926. After serving in the U.S. Army for three years, from 1943 to 1946, he joined the business full-time. Through the years he worked in every area of the business and, in 1974, purchased the dealership in its entirety from family members.

Rockenbach remains active in his community, as a past Director of Grayslake Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Round Lake Chamber of Commerce. In 1990, he was named "Man of the Year" by the Grayslake Economic Development Commission and "Friend of the Parks" by the Grayslake Park District. Rockenbach is also a long-time supporter of the county and state Easter Seal Society.

Rockenbach and his wife, Bonnie, reside in Grayslake. They are the parents of three children; son Gary is the general manager of Rockenbach Chevrolet Sales, Inc.

Two Lake County businesses expand with state's assistance

Pointing to small business as the key to economic growth in Illinois, Treasurer Patrick Quinn detailed expansion plans for two Lake County businesses.

Quinn visited Waukegan's Pfanstiehl Laboratories to announce financing for expansion there and at Lake Bluff's American Metal Fibers which, together, will add a total of 49 new jobs over the next three years.

"We can't afford the mega-deals and smoke stack chasing of the past, which ignored the needs of small but steady businesses like Pfanstiehl and American Metal," Quinn said.

Pfanstiehl, a manufacturer of bulk materials for the pharmaceutical industry, is expanding to take advantage of a new market for its chemicals in the meat processing industry. Gearing up to stay competitive with European and Japanese companies in the field, Pfanstiehl plans to add a total of 21 new jobs over the next three years. To finance this project, the Treasurer's office is depositing $1.75 million with First Midwest Bank which, in turn is making a loan of that amount to Pfanstiehl. State funds remain on deposit earning interest for taxpayers and are not at risk.

American Metal Fibers has seen steady growth since it opened its auto muffler and brake plant in Lake Bluff seven years ago.

The plant is now operating at full capacity, with 40 percent of its sales in foreign countries. Under this expansion project, American Metal is adding new equipment and expanding its facility to fulfill a contract with General Motors and other domestic and foreign auto manufacturers.

The company plans to add a total of 28 jobs over the next three years. This expansion is supported by a $340,000 state deposit with First Midwest Bank, also earning interest for taxpayers.

Both projects are financed through Quinn's Economically Targeted Investment (ETI) program. In the two years since taking office, Quinn has used this program and the partnership it creates with local financial institutions to finance expansion projects for 105 companies, adding or retaining nearly 4,000 jobs that otherwise would have been lost to the Illinois economy.

Companies or financial institutions interested in participating in the ETI program should contact the Treasurer's office at 1(800)882-6303.

The Sun Modular Computer Analyzer used by ATA helps diagnose unforeseen problems with used vehicles.

Used

"When buying a used car, how many customers check the lighter, glove compartment light, interior trunk light? If you're looking at the car during the winter, have you ever checked the air conditioning system? We do," Rand noted.

Rand got the idea when he was out West. "Everything, so it seems, starts out there. After thinking about it, I made some changes to what they were doing out there and brought it here."

Rand has been around cars "one way or another" his entire life. "I know enough about cars to get by, but there's no way I could manually do the tests without the computer and diagnostic tools."

Having tested vehicles from Wisconsin to Chicago, ATA is building a reputation similar to a doctor on call. "If you call, we'll be there."

For integrity, ATA will not suggest a repair shop.

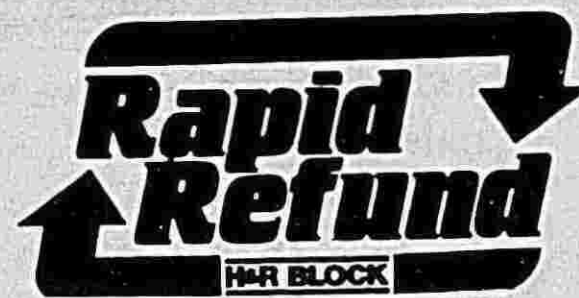

"We don't want anybody to think we are making false diagnoses and suggesting a place to get the vehicle fixed. All we're going to do is tell them what is wrong with the car. We won't tell them to buy it or pass it up. That's not what we do."

Testing all vehicles, except for big rigs, makes ATA a needed service for anyone in the market for a car.

"I tell everyone to write five words on the bottom of the contract before they buy a used car: Subject to auto tester's approval," Rand suggested.

ATA is located at 630 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights. Call 398-0008 for more information.

Country Lane's early days require buyers with imagination

In a new community, most of the necessary ingredients are supplied by the builder: Lumber, concrete, blueprints, etc. But when that new development is in its infancy, every potential customer also contributes a vital and valuable item—imagination.

"When the early buyers visit the site for the first time, there are no model homes to walk through. Instead they rely on their imagination, visualizing what the home and neighborhood will look like. Floor plans and artist's renderings help, but essentially it's up to the buyer to picture his home, his streetscape and the total community," said Gary M. Baxter, president of Baxter Group Inc.

"Their contribution does not go unrewarded, however," Baxter said. "In return, these early-bird buyers have the lowest prices and the widest site selection that the community will ever offer—they're at the front of the line. They also have the peace of mind of knowing they were here when it all began, and they can watch everything they visualized take shape around them."

A division of the company, Baxter Homes Corp., is developing Country Lane at Wadsworth Lake, a community of 126 single-family homes near north suburban Wadsworth.

To date, several buyers have displayed that gift of imagination at Baxter's new community; 16 homes have been sold at Country Lane, just as construction gets under way.

Set on 47 wooded acres immediately west of Mid-lane Country Club, Country Lane offers home buyers a two-tier price and size structure. The "Main Street" series consists of 84 two-, three- and four-bedroom homes from three plans, ranging in size from 1,442 to 1,985 square feet, based-priced from $139,900 to $169,900 during pre-construction sales.

Country Lane at Wadsworth Lake also includes "Country Estates" series of 42 three- and four-bedroom homes set on wooded lots (many with lake views), from three plans ranging from 2,055 to 2,410 square feet in size, and base-priced from $189,900 to $209,900. Each series of homes has a choice of four architectural elevations.

In addition to envisioning what the home will look like, potential home buyers must also imagine how they and their lifestyle will "fit" into the home. "It is here that the floor plans really come into play," said Baxter. "They are invaluable at helping buyers envision the home's interior spaces."

"The first concern is cut and dried—is there enough room for the furniture? And the answer is fairly easily established. After that, buyers must ask themselves which floor plan best suits the way they live, and this answer is not as easy as the first. Who can say in specific numbers how many square feet their lifestyle requires?"

That is one of the reasons there are two housing styles at Country Lane, he explained, "to offer buyers a wider variety in floor plans,

Country Estates at Country Lane near Wadsworth

as well as size, price and options."

By May 1993 the Victorian-style village is scheduled to have six display models, one of each floor plan, rather than the one or two most communities feature. At that point, Baxter says, nobody will have to image what any of the homes will look like.

Among the homes' architectural details will be cathedral or coffered ceilings in all master bedrooms, powder rooms with pedestal sinks, clerestory windows, separate shower stalls (per plan), wraparound porches (per plan) and sodded front yards, with seeded side and rear yards. Kitchens include stainless steel double-bowl sinks, self-cleaning gas ranges, refrigerators with ice makers, dishwashers and disposers.

The community is located at Yorkhouse Rd. and Chicago Ave. To visit the site, take Skokie Highway (Ill. Hwy. 41) to Delaney Rd. Turn north on Delaney and continue two-and-a-half miles to Yorkhouse Rd., then turn left (west) and proceed one mile to the sales and information center.

Sales hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on weekdays, and from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekends. For information, telephone 360-1919.

Abbott's savings bonds campaign honored one of most outstanding

The U.S. Treasury Department presented Abbott Laboratories with a "Golden Eagle Award" in honor of the company's outstanding 1992 U.S. Savings Bonds campaign.

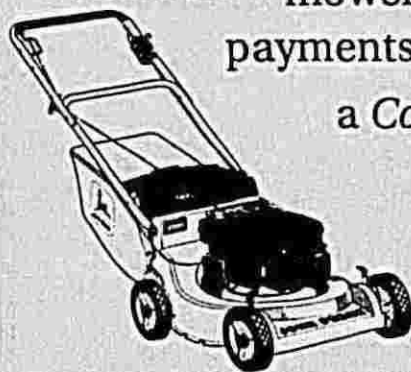

The award was presented by Acting U.S. Treasurer Kate Todd Beach to John Landgraf, director of the 1992 Abbott campaign. Landgraf, of Libertyville, is a divisional vice president in the Abbott chemical and agricultural products division.

Abbott is one of only 33 organizations to receive this prestigious Treasury Department award, established in 1991 in connection with the 50th anniversary of U.S. Savings Bonds.

Companies receiving the award enrolled at least 50 percent of their employees in a payroll savings plan and added at least 3,000 new or increased savers during their 1992 campaigns. In the Abbott campaign, 67 percent of employees signed up.

businesses which generate revenue. If we let the base close, who's next — Baxter, Abbott? I'm calling from Round Lake Beach and I am concerned. Good job, Lipservice.

Why Quote Him?

I'm just wondering who Vern Holmes is and who he represents? Every time I see an article regarding Antioch High School, I see Vern Holmes responding. As far as I know, he's only running for school board; he's not been elected, nor does he represent anyone. I would like to see other people's opinions on what Antioch High School is suggesting, rather than Vern Holmes week after week.

Getting Angry

I get angry reading your Lipservice when there are comments made about the Round Lake community. I think Round Lake Heights is a nice community. We have a nice mayor who works for the community. To the people who think it's a terrible area, I ask you to come up here and look how nice we keep our property and how hard we work. I am proud to live in Round Lake Heights.

Name Calling's No Answer

It's really a shame how intolerant people have become. Calling someone "stupid" or the "village idiot" or "moron" just because they disagree with you, doesn't get your point across. It just illustrates your lack of intelligence. What a boring place this would be if everyone agreed. Rush Limbaugh is not animal hater, nor is he brainwasher.

Walk A Mile In Their Shoes

I am tired of everybody complaining about our police officers in the area, stopping for coffee and doughnuts. The next time these people see the officers stopping at a local gas station or whatever, having their doughnuts or coffee, before they criticize, they should ask themselves where these officers have been. Have they been at a house fire, directing traffic for two or three hours in the middle of winter or heat or summer or rain or snow? Have they been at an accident or running traffic patrol for two or three hours. I think the officers out here do a very good job. Until you understand what that police officer does, you shouldn't be so critical. These officers take a break only when they can. I thank God that we have men that do this job for the salaries they get.

CHECK LOAN CHANCES FIRST

Buying a home has never been an easy task and it's not getting any easier. Home values continue to increase faster than the cost of living. We see would-be buyers who have searched for months to find a "dream home" only to find out they could not qualify for a loan for that price house.

Ironically, it's a heartache most buyers can avoid simply by doing a bit of arithmetic and talking with their Realtor or Lender BEFORE they start hunting for a new home. If you know how much the bank will lend you PRIOR to your house hunting, you won't waste time looking for a house you may not be able to afford.

At our office, we are familiar with most of the banks in our area and can recommend a loan officer to visit with. If you bring your financial numbers along (assets, debts, gross income, expenses, etc.), he or she can give you an estimate of how much the bank will lend you. Then you'll have something solid to work with and can look for a home that fits your budget.

If there is anything I can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at RE/MAX HERITAGE, 4641 Grand Avenue, Gurnee. Phone: 336-2600. I'm here to help!

Are You An Adult?

I'm the Grant student who said "Art Isn't Worthless." It must have been an adult who called art "fluff." No, we don't use tin cans and tomato jars; our artwork is precise and thought out. How are we supposed to know we have skills in art if we have to wait college? Like always, you adults who think you always know what's good for us kids, don't even bother to think of us. By the way, I'm an honor student with straight A's in every quarter. Don't tell me that I can't do anything well.

'Cool' School

I'm calling about another problem in the Round Lake School Dist. It's not drugs, alcohol or gangs, but a mechanical problem that the system can't take care of. I'm talking about basic heat and the maintenance of the buildings. Village Elementary School has had problems all winter long. The kids, for the past seven days, are wearing hats, gloves and coats in the classrooms. At first, I thought it was just my child's classroom, but the whole building is affected. How can our kids be expected to function under these conditions? The administration, Dist. 116, didn't know there was a problem with the heat. A secretary at the school told me that if I knew how to fix it, I'm more than welcome to try. I guess there's something to be said for the old, one-room school house with the wood burning stove. If it will help, I'll donate a cord of firewood to the school. Get with it, Dist. 116.

Five Hours? No Way!

I'm calling from the Wauconda area, regarding the person who said teachers work five hours per day. Apparently, you need a math lesson. Teachers begin their work day at 7:30 a.m., and it doesn't end five hours later. Teachers are also obligated to coach, conduct drama practice, hold open house and conferences and band concerts. These activities do not take place during the school days. In addition, teachers take home lesson plans to complete and papers to grade. Five hours? No way!

Losing Boy Scouts

Indian Hill School in Round Lake Heights is in danger of losing its Boy Scout charter. Any boy in first through fifth grade is invited to attend a Cub Scout rally at 7 p.m., Feb. 25 at Indian Hill School. Find out what scouting is all about.

Need More Room In Dist. 37

Please vote. I've never called Lipservice before, but I think this is very important. We live in unincorporated Grant Twp. in Lake County. One-hundred voters can make the difference in the referendum for Gavin School Dist. 37. This district had a 25 percent increase in enrollment in the past six years. This is not Chicago. The children will get a better education and more attention if they are not overcrowded. Vote yes to upgrade these schools and make room for the projected increases in enrollment. I'm a resident, homeowner and voter in Ingleside.

I Voted For Clinton

I'm calling in response to "I Voted For Bush." I would like to say in regard to President Bill Clinton's first month in office, I'll be happy to take responsibility. I voted for him and I think he's doing a wonderful job. I'm from Round Lake.

Here We Go Again!

The Gavin School Board is again placing the $8.3 million bond issue on the spring ballot to build a new school. How can anybody in their right mind support the bond issue while the board continues wasting the tax dollars it already receives?

Get Involved With Kids

I agree with "Problems Begin At Home." I believe a lot of people around here don't give a crud what their kids do. They should be watching them closer and getting involved in their lives. No matter what town you go to, you are going to have gang problems. Get in their lives and pay attention to them.

Needs Answers To Lasers

I love your message, Lipservice. Radar appears to be on the way out because of the cancer danger to police officers. Laser guns are taking over. One reporter has written that laser's big advantage over radar is precision. At 1,000 feet, radar scatters to 210 feet, while laser spreads to 4 feet. If my calculations are correct, at 250 feet, the spread would be 1 foot. At 125 feet, it would be 6 inches. At 60 feet, it would be three inches. These lasers must be very powerful. While attending various computer shows, I've run across laser pointers that are used for pointing to graphs and charts during business meetings. These little pen-light things spread 5 to 10 inches at 30 feet and are powered by little pen-light batteries. I seem to recall grave warnings about potential eye damage if they are pointed in the wrong direction. Are we switching from the potential of cancer to police, to the potential of blinding motorists? These things are being used in Wheaton and Glenwood, and are ready for use on Chicago-area tollways. At this point, I don't care what precautions are in effect or how safely the guns will be used, or any other governmental or manufacturer's assurances. I want to know at what distance are these lasers harmful to the eye, and at what distance do they burn away the optic nerve?

What Makes You Special?

I'd like to respond to the person who parks where he wants to park. I guess that would make it all right if I park in back of him when he wants to park in a handicap parking space. What makes him so right that he feels he can park wherever he wants to?

Legend leads Wilmot's Winter Wonderland

His life story is one that even the best scriptwriters in Hollywood would have a tough time selling to the average movie buff. However, his life has the right stuff that blockbuster films are made of.

After escaping from the grips of Nazi Germany at the age of 28 in 1939, a young Helmut Teichner came to the United States in search of the American dream. Over the next 50 years, Teichner left his mark, not only on the fortunate few who have had the pleasure of meeting him, but on the entire sport of skiing.

Teichner, who settled in the Chicago area after his departure from Germany, met world renowned architect Walter Stopa who, in his desire to build a ski resort in the Midwest, built Wilmot Mountain in 1938. Stopa, who fell in love with skiing on a sabbatical he took to Europe several years before, asked Teichner to build a ski school at Wilmot due to the high demand for ski instruction.

"We started with two instructors," said Teichner. "Today, the ski school employs 162 instructors."

Not satisfied with just owning a ski school, Teichner helped found the Professional Ski Instructors Association, which developed the criteria all United States ski instructors must pass to become certified instructors. Teichner's gift for requiring perfection from his students resulted in Wilmot being informally named the "Academy of Professional Ski Instructors." Former Wilmot ski instructor students are now employed at several of the major ski resorts in Colorado and other Western states, said Teichner.

"I believe that is the ultimate compliment when one of your own becomes one of the best in his career," said Teichner. "It really says something when one of our former students tells his new employer that he received his training at Wilmot."

In addition to running his ski school, Teichner remained a competitive skier winning the 1964 International Ski Downhill Slalom in the 50 and over category. He also served as the Vice-President of the United States Ski Association and was named to the prestigious United States Ski Hall of Fame in 1983.

"Being named to the hall of fame was the golden moment of my skiing life," said Teichner. "It is the ultimate honor for anyone involved in skiing."

Despite all of these achievements, the greatest challenges to Teichner occurred off the slopes, when he suffered a massive heart attack and received a total hip replacement.

"After the heart attack, the doctors told me I would never ski again," said Teichner. "That is why I feel so strongly about helping people, especially with handicaps, to ski and teach them how to enjoy skiing."

After some 75 years of experience, Teichner said that skiers must ski within their comfort zone.

"If you stay within your limits," said Teichner, "the odds of getting hurt reduce greatly."

Teichner adds that those who ski under control rarely ever fall and just that bit of advice helps build the confidence of a novice skier.

"If you go about it the right way, take a few lessons, then ski within your limits," said Teichner. "The risk of injury is significantly reduced."

The legendary ski instructor's philosophy on skiing is that the sport offers people what no other sport can, freedom.

"You are free as a bird and totally alone and in total control of yourself and the skis," said Teichner. "It's a wonderful feeling."

As Teichner proves, there is no age limit for skiing, as some non-skiers claim, and the physically challenged are also just as apt to catch the skiing bug.

"There is no age limit to learn to ski," said Teichner. "A 75-year-old CEO of a major Chicago-area corporation said to me, 'You opened up a new world for me.'

That is what skiing is about."

The celebrity persona of Teichner helps him deal with the constant handshaking and conversations with some of the more than 500,000 pupils he has instructed. Wilmot skiers constantly greet and talk to the 81-year-old legend.

"My whole life is dedicated to paying back what this wonderful country did for me," said Teichner. "I've slowed down a little, but if someone said they could do as much at 81 as they did at 51. They didn't

'My whole life is dedicated to paying back what this wonderful country did for me. I've slowed down a little, but if someone said they could do as much at 81 as they did at 51. They didn't do much at 51.'

do much at 51."

However, Teichner warns novice skiers to get lessons from a certified ski instructor to avoid injury and to increase the maximum satisfaction received from the sport.

"You must learn the mechanics on how to the ski turn to reduce the chance of injury," said Teichner. "Once the mechanics are mastered, skiing becomes a lifetime affair that never ends."

Teichner, who sold the ski school in 1990, now has the reduced position of ski director at Wilmot and serves as a skiing good will ambassador.

"The best feeling in the world is when someone comes up to me and tells me that I taught them how to ski and it changed his life," said Teichner.

As the winter season at Wilmot winds down, Teichner relates his views of winter in the Chicago-area.

"Winter is the most wonderful season," said Teichner. "You just need to make an attitude adjustment."

It really is a Winter Wonderland for Helmut Teichner.

Wilmot's legendary ski instructor Helmut Teichner shows off some of his 75 years of skiing experience on the Intermediate run at Wilmot Mountain Ski Area. The 81-year-old Teichner, who built and ran the ski school at Wilmot for more than 40 years, took time out of his busy weekend instruction schedule to chat with two of the school's 162 ski instructors. Novice skiers can find Teichner at Wilmot on most weekends and holidays during Wilmot's ski season, which usually lasts through late March.

Shanta to tell stories of African People

Traditional folk tales of African people from America, the Caribbean and Africa will be performed by the storyteller Shanta in a performance on Sunday, Feb. 28 at the Libertyville High School Studio Theater. Appearing on the stage in colorful outfits of traditional African cultures, Shanta enlivens her storytelling with music played on instruments of African origin, such as the mbira, balafon and toa.

For centuries, African cultures relied upon the Griot, or storyteller, to preserve the history of civilization in a time when no written records were kept. Storytelling also served to unite a community through shared experiences and helped to clarify the values of the culture. Shanta's retelling of traditional African tales which have been preserved over time provides insights into the diversity of the cultural heritage of African people throughout the world.

Tickets for "Shanta" are $6 for adults, $4 for DACC members, seniors and children and are available for purchase at the Alder Center or at the door.

Shanta, who makes her home in Chicago, has appeared at the National Festival of Black Storytelling and the Exchange Place of the National Storytelling Festival in Jonesborough, Tennessee. Her stories and poems for children have been published in Ebony, Jr. and she has also written for Cadence, Hot Wire, Black News and Black Books Bulletin.

Audience relishes 'Todd's' operatic gloom, depravity

The Victorian era was a dark and dreary one. Add to that plot full of injustice, tyranny, depravity, insanity and mass murder and we don't have the usual boffo ingredients for a hit musical. Wrong!

That was in the 1940s when singing, dancing and true love were the basis of most musical plots.

Since then, the musical has been successful in reflecting the tragedies of the dark side of life ergo "Little Shop of Horrors," "Phantom of the Opera," "Les Miserable," and "Miss Saigon."

Somewhere in the middle of all these emotionally charged smash hits, Stephen Sondheim produced the music and lyrics to Hugh Wheeler's macabre book about a Victorian barber that gives people the shave of their life, their last shave to be specific.

The new production of the Sondheim tuneless thriller at the Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre stars Timothy Nolen, whose stage credits are phenomenal. His performance proves they are well deserved as he breathes life and death into the demoniac barber. He is ghastly, grisly and gruesome enough for any horror connoisseur, yet his voice could lead an angel choir.

Karlah Hamilton as his sadist floozy girlfriend, who likes to make meat pies out of his victims, steals the show with her version of Sondheim's sanguine strumpet.

Robert Mason as the hapless Tobias, Stephen Buntrock and Rita Harvey as the beleaguered lovers, John Reeger as the evil judge, an Mary Ernster as the Beggar Woman, are all outstanding by anyone's standards.

The real stars of the Marriott Lincolnshire's version of this Sondheim thriller are the masterful direction of Joe Leonardo, the layered, motorized set by Thomas Ryan and the eerie mood-setting lighting by Diane Ferry-Williams.

"Sweeney Todd" is not for the faint of heart nor is it the kind of musical that spawns popular songs, but "Johanna," as done by Nolen and Buntrock, and the title song rendered gloriously by the entire company, are memorable.

"Sweeney Todd" is spooky, it's morbidly heavy, and its violence is arresting. It's an experience to say the least.

"Sweeney Todd" is playing through April 4. For ticket information call Marriott Lincolnshire at 634-0200.—by GLORIA DAVIS

'Two Trains Running' gives riveting look at black heritage

Critics Choice

In "Two Trains Running," playwright August Wilson adds to his theatrical portfolio another illuminating and often riveting look at the rich history of the nation's black heritage.

As with his other plays (from "Joe Turner's Come and Gone" to "The Piano Lesson"), Wilson records the struggle for equality with a well-trained ear for language and gesture.

As presented at Chicago's Goodman Theater, through Feb. 28, "Two Trains Running" is set entirely in a small, rundown diner in Pittsburgh's Hill District in 1969.

Its cast is full of colorful characters, including Wolf (played by Anthony Chisholm), a numbers runner and town's crier of sports; Sterling (Eriq La Salle), a fast-talking young ex-con who is struggling to get his priorities in order; Holloway (Roscoe Lee Browne), the resident philosopher, and Raisa (Bellary Darden), the sassy waitress with more personal woes than she cares to share.

Then there's Memphis (Paul Butler), the conservative restaurant owner who's willing to fight City Hall for a fair price for his business; West (John Beasley), the conniving undertaker, and Hambone (Lou Ferguson), and befuddled man who learns the words "Black is beautiful" but has no inkling as to their meaning.

In the course of their reminiscing, kibitzing, arguing and philosophizing, Wilson's characters unfold a microcosm of the African-American experience in this century. Malcolm X, the Kennedys, the various spiritual prophets...hard times and hopelessness in a world of racial prejudice—all are part of the backdrop.

Ticket information is available at (312)443-3800. After the play leaves the Goodman, it will be mounted for another run at the New Regal Theater.—by TOM WITOM

Goodman, who is about as affable as one can get, employs all the gimmicks, including wired seats, a screaming sound system, etc., to hype his wanting flick. He even has a nurse on hand (his girlfriend) for those who are almost scared to death, and a live "Mant" running through the theater.

'Matinee' good flick anytime of day

Movie audiences seem to be able to enjoy a John Goodman performance whether his vehicle is a good one like "Always," or bad one like "King Ralph."

He is one of the few actors who can play varied movie roles and be more than believable, at the same time that he shows up on our TV screens every week in a type-casting-kind of role on television's No. 1 show, "Roseanne."

His latest film doesn't present that problem however because "Matinee" is a great vehicle for a more than competent actor like Goodman.

He plays a second rate producer of black and white horror movies in the 1960s. The main part of the story zeroes in on Goodman holding a preview of his latest fear-some flick in south Florida during the historic Cuban missile crisis.

The scary masterpiece in question is about a creature who is half man and half ant. Of course the movie's title is "Mant"

League of Women Voters sponsors suspense play

"Slaughterhouse" will be sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Lake County on Friday and Saturday, March 5 and 6 at 8 p.m. at Mundelein High School. The school is located at the intersection of Hawley and Midlothian Rds.; parking is on both sides of the building. The play is a production of the Kirk Players under the direction of John Lynn. Traditionally, nonprofit organizations benefit from the proceeds of this highly dedicated and talented group of volunteers. Tickets can be obtained by calling 945-2964. Adults are $5, children 12 and under are $2, students are $3 and seniors are $2.

"Slaughterhouse" is a thriller by Norman Robbins. An aging horror star gathers a group of people together, ostensibly for a read through of a play. The star is convinced that one of these people sent him newspaper articles about the suicide 30 years ago of an actress with whom the actor had had an affair. Soon people start dying and the actor, himself, becomes a victim.

The proceeds from "Slaughterhouse" will benefit the League of Women Voters of Lake County. The LWV is a nonpartisan issues-oriented organization which is committed to open, responsive government, brought about through informed, involved citizens.

The League of Women Voters of Lake County continues to be active in many ways throughout the county and has sponsored nearly 40 candidates forums in the primary and November elections as a means of acquainting the voters with their candidates.

Health care has been the national League's study focus in the last biennium. The League of Women Voters of Lake County and the six local leagues in the county (Barrington area, Deerfield area, Highland Park, Lake Forest-Lake Bluff, Libertyville-Mundelein area, or Waukegan-Zion area) have made a significant contribution to the debate concerning an improved health care system accessible to all people by arranging two forums with outstanding panelists.

The League is carefully monitoring the deliberations of SWALCO (The Solid Waste Agency of Lake County) and testifying when it seems appropriate. Several local leagues are also working on recycling and reduction as well as hazardous waste collections in their communities.

The other area of active participation for the Lake County League is the reuse of the Fort Sheridan Commission. The LWVLC and the Advocates for the Public Interest in Fort Sheridan are the two most active citizens groups in promoting public access and preservation of open space. For further information about the League of Women Voters, call 945-1937.

'Joy of Art' programs scheduled

Popular art lecturer Claire Copping Cross will present two lively slide programs at Gorton Community Center, 400 E. Illinois Rd., Lake Forest, on March 1, 15 and 29.

On Monday, March 1, Cross will present "Best-Loved American Art from 1940-1992," which will reveal the rich, profuse and complex period of both abstract and representational art. Viewed will be the works of Jackson Pollock, Willem DeKooning and others of the New York School, as well as "Meanwhile Back at the Ranch" Realists Andrew Wyeth and Ivan Albright. Pop art, color field painting, environmental works, conceptual art, super realism, neo-expressionism and other movements will be discussed.

On Monday, March 15, Cross will present "Rene Magritte: Artist, Surrealist, Enchanter." Participants will see the dazzling show of 168 samples of Magritte's work that will be exhibited at the Art Institute March 16 through May 30. Through a color slide presentation, Cross will illustrate Magritte's powerful, eye-catching works. Magritte's deadpan and witty outrageousness has had an astonishing influence on contemporary and commercial art. His work is humorous, intriguing and well worth discussing.

Each of the two lectures follow luncheon, which are scheduled from noon to 1 p.m. Those interested may either sign up for the lecture and luncheon for $17, or for the lecture only for $10. Make reservations now for the March 1 lecture and by Thursday, March 11 for the March 15 lecture.

The Magritte lecture will be presented for a second time on Monday, March 29 from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. for a $10 fee.

For further information, call 234-6060.

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Follow your intuition this week, and you'll like the end results. You come into your prime midweek, so make the most of the different cycles. You feel more connected than you have in a long time. Do watch your need to spend money.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're on the roller coaster ride of your life. The good news is that you end the week on a high note. Just take a moment to think before you launch into action, because whatever you go for, you shall receive. You sizzle this weekend.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Graciously accept the responsibilities dumped on you, and you come out smelling sweet as a rose. Celebration hits midweek. You see more of a friend than you ever thought possible. You have many reasons to vanish this weekend.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your imagination leads you in new directions and gives you the vision you need. Take the ball and run with it at work. If you manage your work well, you will be able to partake in all sides of your life. You are the party this weekend.

LEO (July 23-August 22) One-to-one relating dominates, and you get down to the basics in a partnership. Examine how far you are going with a risk. Be willing to examine different options. You knock around town all weekend long.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) Others seek you out for advice, and also for agreement. You need to use a measure of decorum dealing with those needy folk. You are negotiating different arrangements with others. Plan on taking off this weekend for a mini-vacation.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) Get work done early in the week. Be more tuned into those around you as others knock on your door and want your company. Make plenty of time for a special person in your life this weekend.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) Your more playful side emerges early on in the week. Let this high energy and spunk channel itself into your work. Dynamic interactions occur naturally throughout the week. Be ready to be enticed and drawn into some wildness this weekend.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) Consider a domestic change. Emphasis is on your executive abilities and efficiency all week long. Be more energetic in your day-to-day life. You may need to rest and relax all weekend long in order to recharge your batteries.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) Be lighter in your approach and be available to others for conversations and inquiries. Examine alternatives. You cannot give a family member enough attention right now, especially if you want to feel clear enough to be a bit wild this weekend.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) Watch spending and overindulging this week. Get into a more disciplined pattern in your day-to-day life. Ask questions and demonstrate your efficiency. Be responsive to a family member who really cares.

PISCES (February 19-March 20) You are at your finest this week and maximize opportunities that could help your financial status. Be aware of how very much you offer and be willing to name your price. Expect to be busy, busy, busy this weekend.

Understanding Airfares

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

What I am about to do on a scale of 1 to 10 has a difficulty factor of 11. It is not something that should be attempted at home. Remember, I am a professional.

I will attempt to explain the complex maze of today's airfare! A simple question such as "what does it cost to fly to Orlando?" could have 115 different answers ranging from $179 to $2,198, all of which would be correct.

Factors such as how many days in advance of your trip you buy your ticket, the day of the week you travel, and if you are staying over a Saturday night, all affect your fare. For example, the lowest fare to Orlando requires you to purchase your ticket no later than 14 days in advance, stay over a Saturday night and travel Monday through noon Thursday.

If you are flying to Tampa, things get even more complicated. At this writing, the lowest fare from Chicago to Tampa is $238. The 14 day advance purchase and Saturday night stay are still required, but you must fly from Midway Airport and travel to Tampa anytime Sunday through Wednesday and return from Tampa Tuesday through Friday.

Even if you meet all of the requirements for the low fare, you're still not assured of getting the "Super Saver" price.

The airlines sell only a few seats on each flight at the lowest fare. The exact number varies by how popular a flight is and literally changes minute by minute depending upon demand. An airline can sell as few as one seat at the lowest advertised fare and still be within the law.

So how do you get the lowest fare?

Get your tickets early and be flexible with your dates. If the fares do drop, you can usually exchange your ticket for the lower fare less a $25 change fee.

Your travel agent is equipped with computers to find the lowest fares. Most agents don't charge a fee for this service. If you prefer to book directly with the airlines, remember you can still pick up your ticket at any travel agency, again with no fee involved.

Lent season no sacrifice at Longhorn Steak House

If you're giving up something for Lent, you don't have to sacrifice fine food and great service at the Longhorn Steak House in McHenry.

The Longhorn's surf is every bit as good as its turf, and owners Paul Gasior and Ron Skow are stepping up their seafood offerings especially for the Lent season.

A fish fry featuring fresh lake perch is offered every Friday night. The meal comes complete with soup or salad bar, potato and a mini-loaf of bread.

But it doesn't stop there. Fresh fish offerings include swordfish, grouper, yellow-fin tuna, Norwegian salmon — a wide variety prepared to perfection.

The Longhorn has been named a recipient of the Gold Plate Award from the McHenry County Restaurant Association. It was satisfied customers, however, who gave the Longhorn the nod: Ballot boxes were placed in restaurants throughout the county and over 20,000 votes were cast.

"It's a good indication of what people think," Paul said. "We're carrying on that fine tradition."

One of the house specialties is a 22-ounce, center-cut prime butt steak for two. It comes smothered in onions and mushrooms for $28.

The hearty-portion prime rib dinner includes soup, salad bar, potato and fresh-baked bread for just $16.50.

Two other favorite dinners are two eight-ounce, center-cut pork chops for $10.95 and a 16-ounce T-bone for $14.95.

An all-you-can-eat country brunch is served Sundays. It includes a large array of fresh fruit, eggs and omelets made to order and old-fashioned biscuits and gravy for $6.95.

Paul and Ron have a lot of experience setting high standards and pleasing people. At Highland Park Country Club, Paul managed for 12 years, while Ron was the executive chef for 25 years. They've learned that personal service and top-quality ingredients are the keys to success.

The Longhorn can accommodate those special occasions. No party is too big. Call or stop in to make arrangements.

The Longhorn Steak House is open seven days a week. Lunch is served Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. Dinner is served Monday through Saturday from 5 until 10. Sundays start with the country brunch from 9 a.m. until 1:30 p.m., while dinner goes from 3 until 8.

Reservations are recommended on the weekends, but if you don't have one, a brief wait in the Longhorn lounge can be pleasurable.

The Longhorn Steak House is located on Rt. 120 just 2 1/2 miles west of Rt. 12.

LIPSERVICE

IT'S THE TALK OF THE TOWN

Lakeland
Newspapers

No Community In Town

This is to the person who said Island Lake has a lack of community. The only community we have here is local. The reason why you're not very accepted is because you haven't lived here long enough. You're not considered one of the "ins." After you live here for a few more years, things will come around. I'm not saying that I like it this way, but we had to live here for five years until we were considered a part of the community.

It's For Science Purposes

I live in Wauconda and I can't believe the outrage that is going on about the high school dissecting cats. These cats are not pets. These cats are used for purposes that, I guess, you cannot understand. To help develop the interest of students who may have an aptitude for biology, dissection must take place. All you activists who are complaining would probably say it's fine to kill an animal for science if you would benefit.

What Are Your Thoughts?

This week's question is: Should tax dollars be used to fund non-fundamental classes (art, music, drama) in public schools? Lipservice thanks you for all the responses to last week's question.

—Last Week's Question—

Should Lake County expend its efforts to save Great Lakes Naval Training Center?

Yes. Great Lakes should be saved. It brings in a lot of revenue for area businesses. If it goes, the eastern portion of Lake County will be devastated.

Yes. Great Lakes should be saved because I don't think we should have to drive to Florida to see our son.

Keep him here. Keep other sons and daughters in Lake County.

No. Maybe I'm an uninformed person, but I think Great Lakes should be closed. People say that the county will lose a lot of business if we lose Great Lakes. I'm not so sure about that. How much does a recruit get paid? Not much, I bet.

Yes. Let's make our politicians in Lake County work for once in their lives. If they were doing their collective job, they would have seen this coming. Save Great Lakes! I'm from North Chicago.

Yes. I think Great Lakes is a wonderful thing for Lake County. I don't know why I'm for it, but I know why I'm against closing out the sailors and others. If

Great Lakes is shut down, what will happen to the property. The government has spent so much money on Great Lakes that it would be a waste of money to shut it down. I'm from Gurnee

Yes. If Great Lakes closes, Lake County will lose a great economic base. I'm from Grayslake

Yes. I don't know why the government would want to close the base. It's a hub of activity and provides a wonderful service to the community. I'm from Lindenhurst.

No. I don't want to see the sailors in my town. When I go to Lakehurst, all they do is walk around and look at women. I never see them spend any money. I'm from Gurnee.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I was thrilled to get an interview recently with (name withheld). When I showed up on time for my interview, I was asked by the receptionist to have a seat and to please fill out their application which was quite extensive. I did fill out the essentials, (i.e. name, address, telephone) and then wrote on the top, "SEE RESUME". When I finished with this, I handed it to the receptionist who asked me to please complete the application entirely. I told her that my resume was quite thorough and that all my necessary information could be found within it. She then said that the Human Resource Manager has asked that these be filled out entirely. I explained that there wasn't anything more he could want to know that isn't already on there. The receptionist then brought my resume in to the Manager who came out to tell me that if I was not able to fill out the application, that I should just leave my resume and there would be no need for an interview. Needless to say, I have never heard from them again ... What happened? A.B. - Libertyville.

A: Dear A.B. You didn't do it their way! It may have appeared that because you were unwilling to fill out the application when asked twice, you were inflexible, possibly even argumentative and therefore perhaps not the type of individual they want on board. Keep in mind that a resume does not necessarily tell all. You may think that although you have compiled all of your pertinent information on to a sheet of paper, that everyone will interpret it as you yourself see it. Not so. Applications contain information that may delve a bit deeper. Information that may give the interviewer the ability to strike up a conversation which is what you want. Conversation is good. It allows the interviewer to get acquainted with a person instead of a piece of paper. Resumes are easy. They are more of an index. They tell the basics not allowing much room for imagination or information. When on an interview, regardless of whether or not you have a resume in hand ... If asked to further fill out an application, do not make it appear beneath you. Instead show them how thorough and flexible you can be. And by the way ... When filling out those applications, watch your spelling.

OBORG (401-13)
By Landmark Designs, Inc.

Sidelights on both sides of the Oberg's front door and more glass stacked high under the lofty porch gable create a striking entrance portico effect.

From the exterior, you can see that this is not a large home. The 1,500 square foot, 3-bedroom plan is a mere 54 feet wide, so it easily fits on a standard lot. But when you first step inside, the sense of spaciousness is surprising.

The vaulted foyer is richly illuminated and immediately presents three choices of direction. A door on the right opens into the master suite, and a hallway is to the left. What catches the eye, though, is the vaulted great room, directly ahead - a comfortably large living area that rolls together the functions of kitchen, dining room, living room and family room.

Four skylights shower the room with light, adding to the brightness spilling in through three large windows that fill most of the room's rear wall. A fireplace, tucked into the corner farthest from the windows, provides a colorful focal point when the sky outside turns dreary.

The kitchen is also much larger than one expects to find in a compact home. It is rich in counter and storage space. A dogleg-shaped eating bar adds to the work area and provides separation between the great room and the kitchen. And the location of the sink means that the clean-up crew needn't be left out of conversations or activities going on in other parts of the great room.

A small kitchen table, or even a work island, could fit comfortably into the wide space at the center of the kitchen. A walk-in pantry provides additional storage capacity. Utilities are close at hand, and convenient to the bedrooms as well, tucked into a pass-through to the garage. This small room has a counter which comes in handy for folding clothes.

Features in the master suite include a walk-in closet and private bathroom. The toilet and tub are separated from the lavatory and mirror. This arrangement allows privacy where it is most desired, and keeps the mirror free from steam.

For a study plan of the OBORG (401-13), send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering.) Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

Corsairs gymnast garner state title for second year

Standing on crutches, Carmel Senior Sarah Mikrut told an enthusiastic crowd of students, that her teammates were her inspiration as she captured the uneven bars title in the state meet. Her voice cracking with emotion, Mikrut said the team and the school have given her a sense of belonging and pride.

The Carmel Girls Gymnastic squad, hailed as the best high school squad ever in the state, took home their second consecutive state title over the weekend.

The squad dominated the eight-team field tallying up 147.95 points to win the title, just short of their 150 point goal.

"It's unbelievable we have won this two years in a row," Coach Norbert Bendixen told the student body. "No one will ever match this. These girls are very talented. Thanks to all the staff, student and parent support at our meets throughout the year. You've been tremendous."

Mikrut captured the uneven bars with a 9.6 despite a minor knee injury suffered two weeks ago that kept her from performing at full strength in other events. She had surgery on the knee, Monday.

Senior Eme Cole finished fourth in the all-around competition and brought home medals from all four events Saturday placing third in both vaulting (9.55) and on the balance beam (9.4). She took home a fourth place in floor exercise with a 9.5 score and a fifth on the bars with a 9.4.

Senior Bea Selz tied with Cole for third on the balance beam with a 9.4 score. Selz was 11th in the overall competition. "This team has not been about a thought for one but a thought for all," she told the crowd.

Senior Jaime Wegener and Tanya Holik along with juniors Amy Zenk and Kristen Hall also contributed strong performances that led to the team's victory.

"Gymnastics in this state has benefited from this team," said Bendixen. "They have been the best because of the team itself."

The four graduating seniors will continue their gymnastics careers next fall. Cole at Bowling Green University, Mikrut at Ball State University, Selz at Penn State University and Wegener at the University of Illinois where she will major in dance.

Mundelein High School senior Jenny Snell captured three medals in the state competition. She was second in both vaulting with a 9.6 and uneven bars with a 9.55. She posted a 9.65 for third place in the floor exercise. She will attend Western Michigan University next fall.

Noble, Browne, Kukla all garner fourths at state

They were wrestling at nearby mats at Assembly Hall.

Eric Browne of Mundelein (37-2) and Derrick Noble of Carmel (35-2) were both battling in third-place matches, both having lost the luster of undefeated seasons earlier in the day.

The two ended up finishing fourth at 125 and 119 pounds, respectively, as did Round Lake's Mike Kukla at 103 pounds.

"We have become friends because some of the same schools are talking to us," Noble said after a wrestlingback 7-3 win over Juavier Quiatinalla of Waubesa Valley.

Browne gave Noble a hearty good luck before the semifinal round.

Takedowns were Noble's main weapon in the win, Scordino said.

Noble said he was upbeat about going for third, even though it was not for first.

Noble had lost his first match of the year to Tom Combes of DeLaSalle 5-4. He then lost to Mike Fench of Mattoon 5-3.

Noble, downstate for the fourth straight year, was battling an illness, the flu.

"I don't think that should affect it (his future). Most people knew he was sick. He had been sick since Wednesday," Carmel Coach Joe Scordino said.

Scordino praised Noble, who finished second last year.

"He had a fantastic career. He was 139-8 in four years at this school and that is 25 more wins than anyone else," Scordino said.

Browne fell to Nick Cina of Belvidere. He was trailing 7-0 when he was pinned in 5:55.

"He was a real strong rider," Mundelein Coach Dennis Szymkowiak said of Cina.

Kukla lost a close 4-2 decision to Tommy Lee of Sandburg in the semifinals and a 9-7 loss to Cicco Bermudez of Romeoville for third place. The talented Panther junior finished with a 40-4 record.

In other matches, Shawn Powers of Grant made it to wrestlingbacks at 119 pounds before losing to Chris Henandez of Lockport in 2:31.

Chris Knight of Oak Forest earned a 4-2 win over Scotter Hill of Libertyville at 160. Another Wildcat, Bob Paulsen at 145 lost to Jim LeDuc of Waubesa Valley 9-0. Rusty Nofsigner, also at 145, lost to Tom Belgio of Naperville North 5-2.

Jamal Swift of Carmel was pinned in 12 seconds by Brandon Conofrio of Hindsdale South in wrestlingback at 135.

Wildcats, Pats square off in dream matchup in final

The experts predicted the matchup in November.

Stevenson vs. Libertyville with a trip to Park Ridge at stake. And the two area powerhouses did not disappoint, winning first their respective regional and then sectional opening round games.

"We're playing with a lot more confidence and have a better idea of what our roles are," Libertyville Coach Tom Murphy said.

The Wildcats brought a 23-5 mark into the battle while Stevenson was 26-4. The winner plays the winner of the Glenbrook South sectional March 1 at Maine West High.

Libertyville turned back Zion-Benton 58-33 while Stevenson eliminated Deerfield 56-48, setting up the Thursday matchup.

Murphy described the win over Zion and the play in general in the tournament as "a total team effort". While point guard Kelly Karl and Sarah Weiss usually get the headlines, the Wildcats can count on Julie Virta for inside play, Erica Chung for quickness and Lisa Lima for ball handling skills off the bench.

Juniors Amy Cooper and Lindsay Celba often play the enforcer roles.

Zion made the final four with an upset over Warren, but Libertyville made sure the Zee-Bees got never got that close. Celba led the way with 14 points.

Stevenson Coach Frank Mattucci believes his club, the first to get this far at Stevenson, is playing its best.

The two teams split earlier decisions, Libertyville winning the last one, 51-28.

"I told the kids on the bus ride home, 'you will see them again in the sectional final but we will be a different type of team'," Mattucci said.

Danielle Mall led the way against Deerfield with 20 points. Tauja Catchings had 13 and senior Tina Stops 10.

The Patriots smothered the Warriors with solid defense in the third quarter. "But we really did not take control of the game until the fourth, which is good. You want to be able to learn from a win," Mattucci said.

Stevenson shot 46 percent from the field against Deerfield, but was looking to improve its free-throw percentage (12-for-27) against the Wildcats.

Kessel, MHS finish strong

Leaders have been known to step up in such a situation.

Mundelein's Kyle Kessel has been a leader all season and just when MHS needed him the most, he came through with a 25-point game. Most of those points came in the third quarter, when Mundelein outscored Stevenson 20-14 for a 60-52 lead. That was enough to offset Stevenson's rally bids in the fourth stanza as Mundelein won out, 78-73.

"He just took it upon himself," Coach Dennis Kessel said of Kyle's performance.

But as in the case of all leaders, the junior guard played within the flow as others had strong games as well. It was the Matt Brua show early with his 14 points; Gerald Coleman took charge late with 16 points. Thad Miller was a force underneath and had 13 points and Brian McMahon had another double-figure scoring night with 10 points Friday.

Stevenson, once again missing Kenyon Catchings due to illness, had 30 points from Jason Justus. Mark Finn, who keyed a fourth-quarter rally, had 19 points and Ryan Scully 12.

Mundelein thrilled the home crowd, improving to 16-8 overall, 10-5 in the North Suburban Conference. Both teams remained in the hunt for second in the North Suburban Conference going into the season finale last Tuesday.

"It doesn't matter if we are going for second or fifth, we're just trying to get ready for regionals," Coach Kessel said.

Mundelein, the fifth seed at the Stevenson sectional, hosts 12th seed Round Lake March 2.

Eric Browne, Derrick Noble and Mike Kukla each took a fourth place finish at Assembly Hall during the state competition. The Mundelein, Carmel and Round Lake students have become friends they noted.

Onstad advances

College of Lake County wrestler Kurt Onstad will be making a trip to North Dakota this weekend, and CLC Coach Stan Piasiewicz believes it will not be just for sightseeing.

"I think he has a real good chance of placing. He reminds me of Jerry Chapman," said Piasiewicz.

Onstad, was named MVP of the sectional tournament and improved his record to 31-7. He received a bye in the first round, and then downed Steve Bakey of Harper 3-1 in overtime. An overtime pin over Robert of Belleville secured a spot in the NJCAA tournament in Bismarck.

Hagen helps CLC women gain wins before sectional

College of Lake County's Jenny Hagen had a week some will not soon forget as the Lancers finished strong.

Hagen scored 17, 16 and 15 points as the Lancers finished above .500 at 16-13 heading into sectional play. CLC downed Elgin 87-19 and Morton 91-26 in Skyway Conference laughers, then beat Waukesha 76-61.

"Jenny's good games were real important in our victories. Her assists were instrumental in getting our post players in double figures," CLC Coach Don Zeman said.

Hagen is a sophomore from Antioch.

CLC, 16-13 overall, is the sixth seed in the College of DuPage sectional. The Lancers received a first-round bye and will travel west of DeKalb to face Kishwaukee (third seed) in Malta Feb. 27. The game begins at 5 p.m. CLC downed Kishwaukee 63-62 in December. A win puts CLC back in the final four for the second straight year March 4 and 6 at DuPage.

"Their record is similar to ours. They gave us a good battle in December," Zeman said.

Against Waukesha, the Lancers avenged a defeat in the season opener by breaking the game open in the end of both halves.

CLC put on a 17-6 spurt at the end of the first half for a 45-34 halftime lead. CLC led by just five, 65-60, before an 11-1 run closed the game.

Christy Zink had 14 points and Liz Johnson 10. CLC had finished 7-5 in Skyway play, tied for second with McHenry.

Johnson, Heather Fortd and Sherri Ernest each had 12 points following Hagen's 16 against Morton. Johnson had 13, Julie Frankowski 12, Zink and Ford 10 each against hapless Elgin.

Graham gains honors

Former Antioch High School track and field standout Glenn Graham is continuing his success in college.

Graham won athlete-of-the-week honors at University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.

LHS hoping to regain form on free-throws for tourney

Whether it be in the friendly confines of Libertyville High School, or on the road, the Wildcats could usually count on at least one aspect: free-throw shooting.

But just when the Wildcats needed it the most, it deserted them, as LHS was outscored 26-8 from the free-throw line in a 75-68 loss to Lake Forest.

The victory by the Scouts gives the home team a 12-3 North Suburban Conference record, clinching the title. Libertyville (12-12 overall) went in to the final night of play in a four-way tie for second place.

"We played well; we just did not do the job in free throws. Usually we're a 70 percent free-throw shooting team, but we were eight-for-18. And we missed three front ends of one-and-ones, so we were really eight-for-21," Libertyville Coach Max Sanders said.

Libertyville hosts Deerfield March 3 in the first round of the Stevenson sectional. Lake Forest hosts Zion-Benton and if both teams win, they would face each other in the March 5 regional final back at Lake Forest.

Lake Forest had a nine-point lead in the third quarter but due to a technical, the Wildcats had a chance to make up some ground. "We had a chance to cut it to two or three, but we could only get two points out of it," Sanders said.

Matt Heldman scored 21 points to lead LHS. Tim

Padera had 14 and Jamie Carruthers 12. Robert Brown scored six points off the bench and Steve Humphrey saw some playing time early when Carruthers was in foul trouble.

"They were coming over to help out on Matt or Jamie and that left Tim open at the free-throw line," Sanders said.

Lake Forest was led by Rico Stringer's 18 points.

"He hurt us. We tried to play behind him early. If there was one thing I could have done over, it would have been to front him earlier," Sanders said.

Antioch's adjustments fall short in loss to Zion-Benton

Illness caught up with Jeff Woods Friday and the Zion-Benton offense caught up and past Antioch.

Antioch (5-20, 2-13 in the NSC) fell 61-57 as Woods was sidelined with the flu. Antioch is the 13th seed at the Stevenson sectional, and is at Highland Park in the first round game March 2.

"It was the same thing that nine other guys on the team have had. I thought our kids played well. Zion was throwing a lot of different defenses at us and we had a lot of kids out of position and filling in gaps," Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser said.

Eric Blaha stepped up to score 16 points and Doug Gooch had 14. Eric Eckenstahler had eight.

Gooch was playing on only one day of practice as he, too, had been ill.

"He did an exceptional job. He was tired and weak, but he was a gamer," Dresser said.

Gooch doubled his points-per-game average.

Antioch battled the Zee-Bees, one spot ahead of them in the NSC standings to a 29-29 halftime tie.

"They came out and hit some high percentage shots and we had some which would not go down and then we became reluctant to shoot the ball," Dresser said.

Blaha led an Antioch comeback in the fourth quarter. He scored 12 of his 16 points in the final two minutes as the Sequoits completed a 22-17 run.

Q. Why are contact lenses more expensive than glasses?

Dr. James Doherty

A. The cost of contact lenses is deceiving because we usually think of it in one lump sum. Actually, the cost of lens materials is no greater for contacts than for glasses.

The additional cost of contacts goes for the many extra services you need. The optometrist, for example, spends more time and uses more skill to properly prescribe, analyze, design, verify and modify the fit of contact lenses.

There is also the cost of the individualized instructions you need to learn how to put on, take off and care for your contacts.

In addition, the initial cost of contact lenses should cover follow-up office visits during the adaptation period. These are essential for your safe and successful wearing of contacts.

Running Rams survive scare; ready for top 'Dog

Jay Horvath enjoyed watching a college basketball game or three during his formative years in California.

"I used to like to watch University of Nevada at Las Vegas and Larry Johnson," Horvath said, clad in a UNLV jacket. "I like their fast-break style; we're getting there."

The Rams used a fast-paced attack for three quarters and seven minutes of the fourth. The Rams, Skyhawks and all in the Grayslake High gym watched as Rob Fehling's two-footer hit off the back of the rim and rimmed out as the buzzer sounded, as the Rams held on 70-69.

Horvath scored eight of his 14 points in the third quarter. The fourth quarter was the Dave Mandralla show. The Rams used their vaunted North Carolina style offense to clear the court for the sophomore. He scored 14 of his 16 points in the fourth.

"Early in the year, I lost my shooting touch, but now I have it back," Horvath said.

Grayslake is the last seed - 16th - at the Stevenson sectional and must go up against area ranked and top seed Waukegan at Waukegan March 2.

'Early in the year, I lost my shooting touch, but I have it back.'

—Jay Horvath

The Rams did not score in the final minute against Johnsburg - even sure handed Steve Taylor (nine points) missed the frontend of a one-and-one. Still, the home team survived for a 12-12 overall record, 8-6 in the Northwest Suburban Conference and securing a winning conference record.

"The first quarter - we played great. From there, we held on," Grayslake Coach Greg Groth said.

Grayslake led 22-11 on a Geoff Sponholtz layin to close the first quarter. Sponholtz scored eight points despite a nagging ankle injury.

Jay Horvath

Johnsburg rallied, even taking the lead midway through the third quarter on a Todd Freund (22 points) basket.

A key stretch came at the end of the third quarter, where a 6-2 home team run gave the Rams a six-point lead.

Johnsburg (3-11, 8-15) Coach Jeff

Lewiston was pleased with his team's performance. "I had been disappointed in the attitude in the past, but not tonight," he said.

Center Rob Fehling contributed 18 points, Eric Bauer 14 and Eric Peterson pumped in 11 from the guard slot.

Shot with enthusiasm

Coach says 'No More!'

No more playing as they did in bad stretches of a four-game losing streak.

Not another one-point close one against Wauconda.

Those were the missions set forth by Coach Bob Ward when the Round Lake Panthers battled Wauconda last Friday. The Panthers went two-for-two in a 78-55 Northwest Suburban Conference victory.

"We had not been starting well offensively or defensively, but we went to the board real well," Ward said.

Aaron Yazzie led the way early, scoring 11 of his 17 points in the first quarter and grabbing six rebounds. The Panthers thrilled the home crowd with a 28-12 run.

Round Lake snapped the four-game losing streak, improving to 9-5 in NWSC play, 14-10 overall. Round Lake, the 12th seed at the Stevenson sectional, is at Mundelein on March 2. Wauconda (3-12, 8-16) competes in the Class A regional at Ridgewood.

Yazzie was assisted in the scoring by Scott Ellenwood, who also had 17. Ben Buchanon had 13 and Chad Olsen came off the bench to hit three three's.

"Everybody shot the ball well and that seemed to carry over to defense, too," Ward said.

Buchanon earned particular kudos. "Ben did a great job on Byron Johnson. He had his best game offensively and defensively," Ward said.

Cory Kazimour led Wauconda with 12 points and Sean Balke added 11.

"We lost four in a row, but with the exception of the Grayslake game (a 15-point loss), I saw some good stretches of basketball. The team still has confidence," Ward said.

Bears look to upend Jacobs

Lake Zurich figures to have something to say about who finishes second in the Fox Valley Conference race.

First, it was Woodstock which used a 60-47 win over the Bears to claim its share of the spot behind Crystal Lake South.

On Feb. 26, Lake Zurich will try to derail the plans of Jacobs as it travels to Algonquin. The contest, the regular-season finale, will be at 7:30 p.m. Both Woodstock and Jacobs come into the final Friday of the regular season at 10-3 in FVC.

"They shot the ball very well. Tebo (Kirk) had three three-pointers in about 90 seconds," Lake Zurich Coach Doug Cook said of Woodstock game.

Mike Gavigan led the home team as he had nine points. No Bear hit double figures.

An 18-8 second quarter run by the Blue Streaks settled the issue.

Following the Jacobs game, the Bears (15-9 overall) will prepare for the Stevenson sectional's regional round opener at Carmel March 2. The two teams are seeded nine and eight, respectively.

Recycle used white foam in Antioch

An Antioch material company is offering to recycle area consumer's used packing materials as a part of a nationwide recycling campaign to give Mother Earth a gift.

Tuscarora Integrated Materials Group, located at 182 Ida Ave., invites consumers to drop off their EPS (expanded polystyrene) white foam and "peanuts".

Residents can bring the foam, which is used as packaging material to protect, insulate and cushion all types of gifts and electronic products, to the material company from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. Tuscarora's EPS recycling program will be a permanent, year-round program.

"Manufacturers always generate a considerable amount of foam packaging," said Brian LaCourse, manufacturing manager at Tuscarora. "As a manufacturer of EPS foam packaging, we recognize our responsibility to ensure its proper disposal. That is why we want to encourage those who use our product to give it a second life through recycling."

According to LaCourse, the foam will be collected and ground up and used for toy-fill and bean bags.

Antioch women's club to offer $500 scholarship

The Antioch Junior Women's Club offers a $500 scholarship to anyone residing in Antioch Township who is or will be a full-time student at a two or four-year college.

Applications are now available at the following locations: Antioch Village Hall, Antioch Township Library, Antioch Community High School guidance office, and the College of Lake County financial aid office.

The deadline to return the scholarship applications is April 23, 1993. A committee will anonymously select the recipient based on scholastic ability, merit, and financial need. The successful candidate will be notified early in May 1993. Students home for the holidays should remember to pick up an application.

The Antioch Junior Women's Club is an organization which serves the Antioch Community through charitable and Philanthropic activities, while promoting intellectual development and sociability among its members.

Rotary Club offers college scholarships to ACHS grads

The Antioch Rotary Club is continuing to give college scholarships to ACHS graduating seniors who intend to enroll in school this fall.

To qualify for the numerous scholarships awarded by the Rotary Club, students must either be seeking an associates degree in a two-year program, seeking a four-year degree from a university or four-year college, but plan to first enroll in a community college, or are seeking a bachelors' degree from a four-year college or university.

"Although the number and amount of the scholarships vary annually," said Ted Axton, chairman of the scholarship committee. "For the 1992 school year, we awarded 12 scholarships totaling $10,050."

Axton said the criteria for determining scholarship recipients is based on financial need of the applicant, academic achievement, and extra curricular activities.

Applicants need to fill out the ACHS Standard Local Scholarship Application, along with a short form addendum, and return it to the ACHS College Career Center. Copies of the Rotary Scholarship applicants will be submitted to the Rotary Scholarship Committee after the ACHS Guidance Office assigns a number to each student's application, so that the decision can be made without knowing the student's names.

Scholarship finalists, according to Axton, will probably be interviewed at ACHS during the school day.

Scholarship recipients will be invited and expected to attend a Rotary Club luncheon in the Spring of 1993, and to schedule follow-up visits to the Club meeting when they return to the area.

Further questions about the scholarship, according to Axton, can be answered by contacting the ACHS Guidance Office.

SHARE/food stretches area grocery budgets

Making those food dollars stretch is always a challenge. But the SHARE/Food program sponsored locally by the Antioch Exchange Club can help food dollars go a long way.

SHARE/Food members pay $15 per month and two hours of volunteer time. In exchange they get a well-balanced package of food worth more than $40.

To sign up for this program, bring their money to one of the following locations by 1 p.m. March 13: State Bank of Antioch, First National Bank of Antioch, Lake Villa Township Office, and the State Bank of Antioch Lindenhurst Facility.

Pick up will be on March 27 at the Antioch Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.

SHARE/Food is not a government subsidized program and anyone, regardless of economic status, can join.

SHARE (Self-Help and Resource Exchange) founded in 1983, is a non-profit, grass roots organization with outreach to communities in Chicago, Northern Illinois, Indiana and Southern Michigan.

Countywide food drive helps the hungry

The recession is affecting more Lake County families everyday. Since 1988, the number of families receiving assistance in the form of free food from Lake County soup kitchens and food pantries has increased 103 percent.

County residents have been very supportive of the efforts made by agencies feeding the hungry. While support is especially great during the holidays, the need is greatest in late winter, when pantry supplies become dangerously low.

For the past four years, the Northeast Illinois Council, Boy Scouts of America, the Lake County Life Underwriters Assn. and radio station WKRS-WXLC have supported the efforts of the Lake County Food Resource Council in collecting food and distributing it to Lake County soup kitchens and food pantries.

Many county churches, organizations and businesses will also participate.

This year's drive, March 13-20, will have Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson as honorary drive chairman.

Food will be collected in many areas of the county by the Boy Scouts in special grocery bags as part of their annual "Scouting for Food" drive.

The Lake County Life Underwriters Assn. has accepted the responsibility of collecting donated food from almost 50 Lake County schools which will be participating.

All food that is collected will be sorted on March 20 by more than 300 volunteers. For more information, call 662-1230.

Winners

Three Carmel High School students received awards from the Antioch Knights of Columbus. Winners are Heather Spindler of Barrington, Becky Connolly of Ingleside and Rocky Castellanos of Libertyville. Spindler took first place in the essay contest and received a $50 savings bond and a plaque. Connolly took second and received $50 savings bond. Castellanos took first place in the state poster contest and earned a $50 savings bond. From left are art teacher Sheela Gladwell, Castellanos, Spindler, Connolly and English teacher Lynn Strutzel.

Scout fair 'celebrating people'

Mundelein Girl Scouts' 24th annual Friendship Fair, "Celebrating People," will be from 1 to 4 p.m., Feb. 28 at the Mundelein High School. Thirty seven Daisy, Brownie, Junior, Cadette, and Senior Girl Scout troops will participate in the fair.

Each troop selects a country, learns about its people and customs, and creates a booth for the fair. The booths will have crafts, games, or samples of food from each troop's chosen country. Tickets will be sold for five cents each and the proceeds will be donated to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund, which helps provide international Girl Scout opportunities. At 3 p.m. a program, "Festivals Around the World," will be held in the school gym. The public is cordially invited.

The Mundelein Girl Scouts are part of Moraine Girl Scout Council, serving 4000 girls and 1000 adult volunteers in Lake County communities.

For more information about Girl Scouting, call the Morai Council office, 945-7750.

Renovate your home with low interest loan

County program helps you with 3 percent loan

Applications are now being accepted by the Lake County Housing Authority for its home repair program.

Through the Housing Rehabilitation Loan Program, eligible homeowners may qualify for 3 percent interest loans to finance necessary repairs to their homes.

Repayment terms for the loan are flexible and designed to be affordable while considering a borrower's ability to make monthly payments.

In some cases, where a homeowner may live on a fixed income, repayment of the loan may not be required until the home is sold. Since beginning, the Housing Rehabilitation program has assisted more than 200 Lake County residents complete necessary repairs which they might otherwise have been forced to delay.

To be eligible for the program, a family must own their home in Lake County outside of the communities of North Chicago and Waukegan.

A family of four could have an annual income of up to $38,600 and qualify for a loan.

For more information, call Karen Leinonen, rehabilitation manager at 223-1170, Ext. 220.

Strictly for Seniors

New ideas make homes user-friendly for the elderly

There may be no place like home, but as people age, the home that has always surrounded them with comfort may become something of an obstacle course for daily living.

Non-disabling conditions often associated with aging can make a familiar home less user-friendly. It may be arthritis, which affects the ability to bend, stoop or grip; or it could be hearing or vision impairments, such as depth perception problems.

The kitchen and the bath, two of the most frequently-used rooms in the home, can present special challenges for an aging resident. But today, there's greater sensitivity to designing spaces and products that are accessible and adaptable to changing needs.

For older adults who are planning to build or remodel a home in which they expect to remain for the rest of their lives, the key is to think ahead. Consider products and design features that are suitable for able-bodied residents now, and that also will work if a family member needs more assistance later on, due to age or infirmity.

Specialists in the health care facilities, offers the following suggestions for planning an adaptable home or room.

- Make sure there's sufficient space for a wheelchair's standard turning radius of 60 inches (five feet). And don't forget that a person using a walker also needs some extra room to swing the device around.

- Plan for wider doorways and hallways. They improve accessibility.

- If you think you may need grab bars later, have walls reinforced during the construction project, and mark a set of plans so the reinforcements can be found when needed.

- In the kitchen and bath, plan for some counterspace with the right height and sufficient clearance underneath it for someone who is seated.

- Adequate lighting is "tremendously important," but it should not glare. Matte finish surfaces also will cut down on reflected glare.

There's nothing like natural daylight to give skin tones a healthy glow says, so make provisions for natural light wherever possible.

- Avoid too much contrast in floor treatments. For a person with poor depth perception, a floor pattern with strongly contrasting colors can give the illusion that there is a step to be negotiated.

To equip these newly-designed spaces, there are new products on the market that address the issues of accessibility, safety and convenience with style.

Bathbubs, such as Kohler's new Precedence™ bath, are becoming more user friendly. The Precedence features a door that eliminates the need to step over the rim of the bath to get into or out of it.

Other baths come with a removable transfer seat, which enables the user to sit down on the seat, and swing his or her legs over the side of the bath. This is helpful for those with back, hip and knee problems.

Grab bars have been integrated into bath tubs and shower enclosures. These new grab bars are made of sturdy, attractive materials such as nylon, and come in a variety of colors.

It's now possible to have a wheelchair-accessible lavatory in a convenient countertop installation. These specially-designed lavatories have shallow basins that provide leg clearance for wheelchair users, and a shape that brings the faucets closer to the user.

New shower faucets offer a pressure balancing feature that prevents dangerous hot and cold water surges. And there are hand-held showers which bring the showerhead to the user for safe shampooing and localized cleansing.

Some products, like toilets with higher bowls to make it easier to transfer from a wheelchair to the seat, and faucets with lever handles that can be easily operated with the palm of the hand, have been available for some time. They are now available in attractive styles suitable for residential use.

Keep healthy smile a lifetime with proper care

By the year 2020, an estimated one-fourth of the nation—more than 50 million Americans—will be at least 65.

Advances in every area of health care—including dentistry—have enabled Americans to live longer and be healthier than ever before.

The dental profession is seeking to combat the myths and false assumptions that have kept older Americans from seeking needed dental care.

Tooth loss is not inevitable. People lose their teeth to disease, injury and neglect. Teeth are meant to last a lifetime and, with proper oral hygiene and regular dental visits, they can.

One of the major oral health problems today is the range of periodontal diseases that afflict the gums and other structures that support the teeth.

Periodontal diseases are responsible for about 70 percent of all adult tooth loss. Affecting at least three out of four people over the age of 35, these diseases often progress slowly and painlessly over a long period of time. So seniors are definitely at risk.

Periodontal diseases are caused by plaque, a sticky, colorless film that forms constantly on the teeth.

The bacteria in plaque produce acids that can irritate the gums and, over a period of time, seriously damage the structures that support the teeth.

There are several warning signs that may indicate presence of periodontal diseases:

- Gums that bleed easily;

- Red, swollen or tender gums;

- Gums that have pulled away from the teeth;

- Pus exuding between the teeth and gums when the gums are pressed;

- Persistent bad breath or bad taste;

- Permanent teeth that are loose or separating;

- Changes in the way your teeth fit together when you bite;

- Changes in the fit of dentures or other dental appliances.

If you have any of these symptoms, see your dentist immediately. The sooner periodontal disease are diagnosed, the better the chance for successful treatment.

Tooth decay affects people of all ages—including seniors. The nature of the problem, however, changes in later years.

Most children's cavities occur on the biting surfaces of the back teeth, where food and bacteria easily collect. But, for people over 50, two out of every three cavities occur around the edges of old fillings.

Root caries are another type of tooth decay common in older adults. As gums recede, tooth roots become exposed and susceptible to decay. About 70 percent of people over age 60 have root caries, which should be treated by a dentist.

Xerostomia, or dry mouth, a condition of reduced saliva production and severe oral dryness, often contributes to tooth decay in older adults.

Saliva lubricates the mouth, washes food away from the teeth and neutralizes acids that can cause decay.

Xerostomia is a side effect of more than 200 frequently prescribed drugs. If you think you may have xerostomia, consult your dentist, who may recommend use of artificial saliva and a fluoride mouthrinse.

What should seniors do to maintain oral health? It's not difficult. There are just a few steps to take:

- Brush thoroughly at least once a day, after meals whenever possible.
- Floss thoroughly once a day.

- Eat a balanced diet and limit snacks between meals, especially sticky foods that cling to the teeth.

- At least once a day, use a fluoride toothpaste approved by the American Dental Association.

Fluoride toothpaste is recommended for all ages, not just children. Adults should also use fluoride toothpaste routinely to help reduce both tooth root and tooth crown decay.

- Visit your dentist regularly.

Millions of Americans wear dentures, but their need for dental care does not stop. The mouth is a living, constantly changing organ, so dentures that fit well at first may need professional adjustment later.

Only a dentist can assure the proper fit of dentures and the continuing health of mouth tissues.

Stroke—A family disease

Strokes happen to an individual, but they affect a whole family. When a family member is disabled by a stroke, even the best relationships can suffer. Spouses, children and siblings often must take care of the person who suffered the stroke. According to the National Stroke Association, one million women are today nursing their over-65, stroke-survivor husbands.

Statistics show a high casualty rate among caregivers due to the emotional stresses involved. Caregivers are usually thrust into a role they did not choose. When they are placed in this role, negative emotions can emerge, including anger, resentment, bitterness, depression, self-pity, grief and impatience. They may feel guilty about these feelings.

The best way to avoid being in this situation is to help a family member prevent strokes in the first place. One key to prevention is to recognize stroke warning signs and to seek immediate medical treatment.

A strong predictor of stroke is a transient ischemic attack (TIA) or ministroke. Symptoms include sudden weakness or numbness of the face, arm or leg; difficulty speaking or understanding; dimness or loss of vision; and unexplained dizziness, unsteadiness or sudden falls.

After a TIA, the risk of stroke can be reduced by prompt medical treatment. Treatment options include a surgical procedure to clear out clogged arteries leading from the neck that supply blood to the brain, or use of blood clot-inhibiting medication such as aspirin or Ticlid (ticlopidine hydrochloride). Ticlid is a new drug indicated to help prevent initial stroke in patients who have experienced a stroke warning sign (TIA) and to reduce the risk of a second stroke in patients who have already had a stroke.

Because Ticlid is associated with a potential risk of neutropenia, a serious side effect, it should be reserved for patients who cannot take aspirin where indicated to prevent stroke. Aspirin is only indicated to reduce the risk of recurrent TIAs and stroke in men. Therefore, Ticlid is appropriate for women who have had a TIA, men and women who have experienced a stroke and aspirin-intolerant men following a TIA. To detect the possibility of neutropenia, which reduces white blood cells, doctors must monitor patients for the first three months of Ticlid therapy.

Ticlid was shown in a major study to reduce the risk of stroke in men and women by 48 percent compared to aspirin when taken during the first year after a TIA—the period of greatest risk. And, over a five-year period, the medication was shown to cut the overall stroke risk by 24 percent when compared with aspirin.

"When stroke occurs, the world is forever altered. It is never again the same for the individual or family," said Gary Houser, vice president of the National Stroke Association.

If you experience any warning signs or recognize them in a family member, seek immediate medical attention.

There's help for aging bones

More than 20 million American women suffer from osteoporosis, a disease that weakens their bones, limits mobility and has potentially fatal complications. This disease is responsible for 1.3 million fractures each year, including 250,000 hip fractures. A woman's risk of suffering an osteoporosis-related hip fracture is equal to the combined risk of developing breast, uterine and ovarian cancer.

Despite these staggering numbers, many women are still uninformed about osteoporosis. A recent Gallup survey showed that up to 75 percent of American women who are at high risk for the disease have never discussed it with a physician. More than 80 percent of women were unaware that the disease is directly responsible for painful spine and hip fractures, and more than 90 percent failed to recognize death as a potential outcome of the disease.

Fortunately, there are two treatments available for osteoporosis patients. Both calcitonin-salmon and estrogen replacement therapy slow down the process of bone deterioration. For patients who have the disease now, these are the only medications indicated for the treatment of osteoporosis.

Estrogen replacement therapy is a treatment to restore estrogen lost either following removal of the ovaries or after natural menopause. For women in these categories, estrogen therapy can help prevent further bone loss. However, many women are reluctant to take estrogen due to increased risk of endometrial cancer and breast cancer.

The other approved treatment, calcitonin-salmon, is derived from the naturally occurring hormone that inhibits bone weakening. Synthetic calcitonin-salmon, currently available as an injection, is marketed under the name Miacalcin Injection, Synthetic, and is 50 times more potent than human calcitonin. Studies have found Miacalcin, in conjunction with adequate calcium and vitamin D, prevents the progressive loss of bone and slows further bone deterioration.

"Miacalcin is an effective therapy, particularly for the woman with established osteoporosis. It is an alternative for women who cannot or will not take estrogen," said Dr. Arthur B. Chausner, head of the Metabolism and Bone Health Center, St.

Petersburg, Fla.

There is no known cure for osteoporosis. Calcium supplements and a diet heavy with calcium-rich foods, like milk and green leafy vegetables, cannot alone prevent or reverse the effects of this devastating disease, doctors say.

This is why it's important that individuals stay informed. Anyone wishing to learn more about his disease and its treatment can receive a free copy of "Boning Up On Osteoporosis, A Guide To Prevention And Treatment," by writing to Osteoporosis, 301 E. 57th St., third floor, Dept. NU, New York, N.Y. 10022.
